Turk Offers Land At Swaney For Planned County Airport

Move Taken In Line With State's Plan

Jaycees Help Make Arrangements For Land Contribution

A runway site and whatever additional property is needed for a proposed Columbiana County Airport has been offered without cost at Swaney Airport near Glenmoor by Mike Turk, city businessman and owner of the airfield.

Turk today said he will notify the Columbiana County commissioners of his offer of the land at Swaney, where two runways now are located.

The arrangements for the contribution of the property were made with Turk by officers of the East Liverpool Jaycees, who have been active in recent weeks in seeking a satisfactory, county airport site.

The county is eligible for $100,000 from state funds for the development of an airport, part of a statewide program to provide new fields for executive-type planes to serve existing industry and attract new firms.

Turk, who operates Mike Turk, Inc., auto agency and has other business investments in the area, explained he is offering whatever land is needed under the specifications spelled out by the state.

The minimum standards suggested by some authorities is a runway 4,500 feet long with some 300 feet on each side for taxiing and parking areas. The runway also should be capable of extension to 5,000 feet.

At present, there are two runways at Swaney — one north-south is 2,750 feet long and the other east - west 2,800 feet long.

Laneve said the 83.6 acre tract is capable of having a new runway constructed at a minimum cost in a southwest - northeast direction for almost 4,000 feet, plus possible extension to 6,000 feet.

Turk said he believes a modern airport is a vital necessity for the county for industrial development and he is interested in assisting in whatever way he may.

Turk and John Eiferd, dairy operator, purchased the Swaney facility in March 1945 from Frank Swaney, former telephone firm manager here.

Swaney earlier had become interested in an airport when W. E. (Pete)Kaiser, now a real estate operator, was flying

Reapportion Held Up By Court Order

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A state court issued a temporary order today to prohibit any further action on a reapportionment plan adopted by the State Apportionment Board.

The order includes prohibition of further advertising of the plan in metropolitan newspapers.

Presiding Judge William C. Bryant of the 10th District Court of Appeals set Nov. 5 as the date for the Apportionment Board to file answers or motions in a suit filed by Senate Democratic Leader Frank King challenging the plan drafted by the All-Republican Apportionment board.

Bryant aid Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe and other attorneys for state officials who are defendants in the suit agreed there would be no further action by the apportionment board and no further advertising.

Advertisements outlining the plan were published Friday, the day Saxbe first announced it and filed it witn a federal court considering reappoartionment of Ohio's legislature

King asked the court Monday to nullify the plan.

Issuance of an "alternative writ of prohibition" today suspends action to put the new apportionment into effect until the court rules on the merits of the case. That would be sometime after Nov. 5.

King asked that Secretary of State Ted W. Brown be prohibited from certifying any form of ballot or any candidates under the plan.

The Apportionment Board, made up of Gov. James A. Rhodes, State Auditor Roger Cloud and Brown, submitted the plan to a special three - judge federal court Friday and then declared it "official" under Ohio's constitution.

King's suit contended that the board in drafting the plan "met in secret assembly and without authority under the Ohio constitution or authority under court order and without authority of any kind."

Meanwhile, the federal judges considering Ohio's reapportionment issue apparently have not determined whether the apportionment board's plan will receive priority over others.

Judge Paul C. Weick of the U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals was asked Monday whether the board's plan will be considered first or differently in any way from nearly a dozen proposed plans.

"That is something the court will have to consider," he said, adding that the three judges expect to act soon in the controversy still unresolved more than a year after the U. S. Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" decree.

The three-judge federal panel also includes U. S. District Judges John W. Peck of Cincinnati and Carl A. Weinman of Dayton. The three announced a decision holding present apportionment of the Senate, as well as the House, violates the 14th Amendment to the U. S. Constitution.

The U. S. Supreme Court ruled in its 1964 decision that the 14th amendment calls for state legislative districts virtually equal in population—the "one man, one vote" doctrine.

U.S. Bomber Downed In North Viet

Two Crewmen Are Believed Captured; Red Targets Blasted

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The loss of another U.S. bomber over North Viet Nam was reported today and its two crewmen were presumed captured.

The plane, an F4C Phantom, was shot down Monday over a bridge 40 miles west of Vinh, a U.S. military spokesman said. It was the sixth American plane reported lost in North Viet Nam in three days and the 115th since the United States began bombing North Viet Nam last February.

Radio Hanoi claimed North Vietnamese gunners brought down five U.S. planes Monday and 11 on Sunday.

Fourteen other planes from the carrier Midway smashed 13 railroad cars and pounded bridges on other strikes in North Viet Nam, the spokesman said.

Two planes from the carrier Independence attacked a Marine railway installation about 60 miles north of the frontier between North and South Viet Nam. Pilots said they damaged three buildings and sank a barge.

U.S. B52 bombers from Guam blasted a Viet Cong target in the Ho Bo woods 30 miles northwest of Saigon.

The Vietnamese army said its troops killed 53 Viet Cong, wounded 13 and captured 23 in operations in the northern coastal provinces.

Troops of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division rounded up 115 suspects during an operation 25 miles north of Saigon. A spokesman said five of the suspects were identified as Viet Cong and one was killed when he tried to escape.

The Viet Cong inflicted "heavy" casualties in an ambush of a small government squad in a northern coastal province. But government troops reported they killed 11 guerrillas in a raid in the Mekong Delta 65 miles southwest of Saigon.

1965 Voting Act Ruled As Illegal

SELMA, Ala., (AP) — An Alabama judge has ruled that the 1965 Voting Rights Act, which resulted in the sending of federal voting examiners into a score of Southern counties to register Negroes, is unconstitutional.

Circuit Judge James Hare, in a ruling Monday, declared the law to be in violation of the "equal footing of states" doctrine of the U.S. Supreme Court, and of the provisions of the U.S. Constitution allowing the states to establish their own voting requirements, "so long as there is no discrimination."

After handing down the ruling, Hare remarked, "I'd say this is just the opening round.

An appeal of the decision is practically a certainty, but there was no immediate announcement by the Justice Department.

Hare made the ruling in granting an injunction requested by the state to prohibit Dallas County Judge Bernard Reynolds from certifying as voters those applicants approved by federal examiners operating in Selma.

Most of the hundreds of applicants are Negroes.

The motion for the injunction was filed more than a month ago by Montgomery attorney Frank Mizell on behalf of Gov. George C. Wallace.

Hare noted that the law, which has sent voting examiners into seven Alabama counties, provides for action only in those states where less than 50 per cent of the voting-age population was registered or voted in 1964.

This, he ruled, violated the doctrine of "equal footing" applied by the nation's highest court. That doctrine of political equality of states was applied most notably in the tidelands oil controversy of several years ago.

Hare held that the recently enacted law also enables the federal government to "inflict penalty or punishment on the entire population of the state without judicial trial for statutorily presumed past malconduct."

In holding that the law violates the constitutional right of the states to establish their own requirements for voters, Hare said the Constitution makes no provision for universal suffer-age.

Klan Reported Striking Fear Of Death In South

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ku Klux Klan has struck the fear of death in persons over wide areas of the South, Donald T. Appell, a congressional staff investigator, testified today.

Appell, sent by the House Committee on Un-American Activities to gather information on the invisible empire, was the first witness at the committee's public hearings.

He said he and other investigators attempting to collect facts about the Klan were hampered by the terror of prospective witnesses.

"These people fear harassment, telephone calls, cross burnings on their property, beatings, bombings and, yes, even death," he said.

Before Appell took the stand, Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., issued a warning against any attempt to intimidate or injure witnesses. He said he would see to it that any such attempts were punished.

Committee members have said that many persons who have been questioned in closed preliminary sessions have expressed fear of Klan retribution of one kind or another.

Jury's Sought In Klansman Murder Trial

Selection Of 12 Slowed In Quiz Of 39 Listed On Panel

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Attorneys in the second trial of a young Ku Klux Klansman charged with murdering a civil rights worker attempt today to agree on a jury and begin calling witnesses.

Selection of 12 jurymen bogged down Monday when state prosecutors, headed by Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers, conducted a grueling quiz of 39 men listed on the jury panel and failed to qualify 30 as required by state law.

With only 27 white men and two Negroes tentatively agreed upon — and several of these almost certain to be struck by the state — Circuit Judge T. Werth Thaggard drew 10 more names from a box and added them to the jury list.

Fifty-five prospective jurors had been called to hear evidence in the trial of Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., 21, Fairfield, Ala. Sixteen were excused for legal reasons permitted by Alabama law and 10 were disqualified for saying they had fixed opinions in the case or that they did not believe in capital punishment.

Plans Pushed For Widening Of Lisbon St.

Council Monday night advanced plans for a $200,000 State Highway Department project for widening, resurfacing and easing the curves on Lisbon St. (Route 267) between W. 8th St. and the city limits.

A resolution was approved unanimously authorizing Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey to hire an engineering firm to prepare detailed plans for the project.

In response to a query, the director said the action may mean that the long-sought project will be started in 1966. He said an engineering firm should be able to complete the plans by next spring if it finishes its field work before winter weather intervenes.

Legislation giving the city's official consent for the program was approved in July.

The city will furnish $40,000 toward the cost. Council provided $20,000 of the sum in the current year's appropriation ordinance. The city's share is scheduled to include furnishing the plans, 20 per cent of the cost of the engineering, right-of-way and construction and 100 per cent of the cost of any necessary relocation of utility lines.

Boyce Appointed New Home Head

LISBON — Robert Boyce of Hanoverton will become acting superintendent of the County Home near here Saturday, succeeding Lawrence J. Pike of East Palestine, who resigned after serving two weeks.

Boyce, 41, and his wife, Gladys, operated Boyce's Restaurant in Hanoverton. He is a tool and die worker by trade.

The county commissioners explained Pike agreed to take the post only for two weeks. Last week they authorized him to hire an assistant and he named Boyce. The post pays $340 a month, plus living expenses.

Russell V. Phillis, the former superintendent who was fired by the commissioners more than two weeks ago, is residing in the administration building with his wife, Betty, who is home matron.

J. Warren Bettis, county prosecuting attorney, announced Monday that the Civil Service Commission hearing for Phillis set for Wednesday has been canceled, but that a later hearing will be conducted by the Personnel Review Board of the Civil Service Commission at Lisbon or Columbus. The date will be announced.

The commissioners Monday employed Mrs. Janet Gard of Beaver Falls as a psychiatric social worker for the County Mental Health Clinic here.

The appointment was recommended by Judge Louis Tobin, chairman of the County Mental Health Association Clinic Board. Mrs. Gard has a master's degree in social work and will receive $30 per day for approximately four days a month. Her husband, Dr. John Gard, is associated with the Beaver County Mental Health Clinic. President's Recovery To Take Longer

But Doctors Are Not Dissatisfied With His Progress

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's recovery from surgery now is expected to take longer than anyone thought it would, although his doctors reportedly are not dissatisfied with his progress.

White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers coupled this assessment of prospects with an assurance there have been no physical complications since an operation Oct. 8 to remove Johnson's gall bladder and a kidney stone.

Moyers said as a guess that the President might remain in Bethesda Naval Hospital the rest of this week and perhaps his recuperation would extend beyond six weeks. That would extend both the hospital stay and recovery period beyond what Johnson's doctors say is average — 10 to 14 days for the one and six weeks for the total.

Johnson has experienced pain, discomfort, weariness and sleeplessness since the operation.

Just before Moyers was saying it would take the President longer than anyone thought to get back to a peak of activity, Johnson took a half-hour stroll on the hospital grounds under doctors' orders.

He walked slowly and cautiously. While his color was good, he appeared considerably thinner than when he entered

Draft Boost Triggers Voluntary Enlistments

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department says a boost in the draft has triggered an increase in voluntary enlistments.

A special report covering July, August and September shows increases ranging from 32 per cent for the Air Force to 54 per cent for the Marines.

The Navy and Army had boosts of 41 per cent and 46 per cent respectively.

A build-up in the regular forces by 340,000 men was announced in July.

Senators Denounces Card Burners

No New Laws Expected In Anti-Draft Marches

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anti-draft demonstrations which touched off thundering denunciations in the Senate appear unlikely to lead to any new legislation at this time to deal with the demonstrators.

Senator after senator arose Monday to denounce the young men who have destroyed draft cards and have joined in instructing their youthful colleagues on how to avoid military service by taking drugs or feigning illness as a protest against U.S. policies in Viet Nam.

The consensus of the Senate speakers was that these individuals not only were disgracing the country but were giving Hanoi and Peking a false impression that there is significant opposition to President Johnson's course.

The President took this viewpoint and it was echoed at the State Department.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, said the country was paying "a terrible price" for the freedom to demonstrate. He added that "we must find some manner to deal with it."

New Actions Are Filed In Sunday Sales

The Sunday sales operation of the Hills Brothers Department Store at Calcutta moved into new court aspects Monday with the filing of more complaints against the manager and employes of the firm.

Complaints of Sunday sales were filed by eight residents against four clerks of the St. Clair Plaza concern as a result of transactions Sunday.

A complaint against the store for sales on Sunday Oct. 10 was dismissed in County Judge Herbert Arfman's Court at East Palestine yesterday and a new charge filed against Ernest Fannin, manager of the concern.

Another charge against Marjorie Robinson of E. 4th St., Hills clerk, was continued until Thursday afternoon before Judge Arfman.

4 Here And At Wellsville Obtain Gambling Stamps

Three East Liverpool residents and another in Wellsville have obtained so - called "gambling" stamps from the Internal Revenue Service office at Cleveland for the fiscal year that ends next June 30, the federal agency disclosed today.

The East Liverpool stamp-holders were identified as John G. Couris of Post Office Box 464, who listed himself as a principal, and Don Poulos, also of Post Office Box 464, and Ella L. Prince, 473 Mulberry St., both of whom listed themselves as agents.

The lone Wellsville stamp-holder was listed as Otto Stockdale, Post Office Box 225. He listed himself as an agent.

No other Columbiana County residents obtained the stamps.

The office at Cleveland services 46 counties in Northeastern Ohio. It said it issued a total of 120 stamps in the entire district, including 13 to Belmont County persons and 31 to Jefferson County residents.

Federal officials have stressed that the so - called gambling stamps sold by the IRS are not a license to operate a wagering business. The tax law makes numbers operations and all other kinds of gambling subject to federal prosecution if is operated without the stamps, they explained.

The IRS said some of the stamp - holders designate themselves as principals, or operators, and others listed themselves as agents, or employes. The IRS added that local operations by the stamp purchasers "are matters for local police departments to handle."

An official of the Cleveland office said no applications were received from many counties in its area because many gamblers wait until the initial list is published each year before filing. The law specifies that application must be made for a stamp before a wager can be accepted, but many gamblers take the risk until the initial list is published, even though they know that subsequent lists also are available to newspapers. The stamps cover the fiscal year July 1-June 30.

Veterans Day Dinner Plans Are Announced

Plans for a citywide Veterans Day dinner by the Veterans City Council and American Legion Post 374's banquet were discussed at the meeting of the East End post Monday night.

James Cregar, president of the Veterans City Council, said a public dinner will be held Nov. 11 at 6 p. m. at the VFW Post 66 home with Harold Wilson, formerly of East Liverpool who now is superintendent of schools in Cuyahoga Falls and a lieutenant commander in the Naval Reserve, as the speaker. He is the son of Mrs. Edwin Wilson of Oak St.

Tickets are on sale at the post home.

The post dinner will be held Nov. 13.

Vincent McGeehan reported the post has signed up 380 members for 1966.

Harry Warren was obligated as a new member by John Long, commander.

Raymond Galloway was named "Legionnaire of the Week" and received two tickets to the Potters-Big Red game Friday night.

Louis Provost read a letter of commendation from George Hall, chairman, thanking the post for the work it did last year on the Gifts for Yanks program, urging the work be continued this year.

James Wallover, service officer, reported three veterans have been admitted to the Veterans Hospital in Pittsburgh.

The Tempos will play for the dance Saturday night, Robert Nutter reported.

Densil McKinney offered the opening and closing prayers. Fifty-three attended. A special meeting will be held Monday night.

planes and Swaney offered the farmland as a landing site.

Turk said there was a 700-foot runway and a hanger when he and Eiferd obtained the tract. Turk subsequently purchased Eiferd's interest and built another hanger, the two runways and a structure for a weather observation station.

The weather station was transferred to Wheeling about 1950 when the Wheeling Airport was built, Turk said.

Turk said a Thunderbolt military plane made an emergency landing on the field in 1945.

Laneve and Robert Lewis of the Jaycees attended a meeting of the County's Regional Planning Commission Thursday night to urge consideration of Swaney as the county airport site.

Swaney is one of several sites throughout the northern and central parts of the county being considered.

The nearness of Route 30 and Route 11 — the River-Lake Highway — to Swaney would make it accessible to other parts of the county and would be of benefit to industry, business and other aircraft users in a widespread area, Laneve said.

Laneve is scheduled to take Turk's letter to the commissioners Wednesday.

Working with Laneve on the committee were Lewis, Charles Lang, Al Fricano, Frank Mangano, Larry Walton, Craig Walton, and Paul Zehender, along with Ralph Fusco of the Wellsville Jaycees.

ago, sat quietly through the proceedings. He kept his attention on the jury panel and smoked cigarettes one after the other.

The Klansman is being tried for the murder of a Detroit housewife, Viola Liuzzo, who was shot through the head last March 25 while ferrying civil rights workers from Montgomery to Selma after a massive four-day march to the Alabama capital.

The other two under indictment, Eugene Thomas, 42, a steel company worker, and William O. Eaton, 41, a retired steel employe, both of Bessemer, were in the courtroom.

Flowers, who allowed Asst. Atty. Gen. Joe Breck Gantt to question the jurors, said he intended to call state witnesses today as they become available.

The key witness is expected to be Gary Thomas Rowe, who was revealed as a paid FBI informer on the Klan during Wilkins' first trial. Rowe, 35, testified that Wilkins shot Mrs. Liuzzo as she drove along U.S. 80 about nine miles east of here on the night of March 25. Rowe said he was in the car with the Klansmen.

He quoted Wilkins as saying after the shooting, "Baby brother, I don't miss."

Rowe's whereabouts since the earlier trial have been kept secret.

Wilkins' attorney, former Birmingham Mayor Arthur J. Hanes, challenged none of the jurors who appeared Monday and questioned few.

ago, sat quietly through the proceedings. He kept his attention on the jury panel and smoked cigarettes one after the other.

The Klansman is being tried for the murder of a Detroit housewife, Viola Liuzzo, who was shot through the head last March 25 while ferrying civil rights workers from Montgomery to Selma after a massive four-day march to the Alabama capital.

The other two under indictment, Eugene Thomas, 42, a steel company worker, and William O. Eaton, 41, a retired steel employe, both of Bessemer, were in the courtroom.

Flowers, who allowed Asst. Atty. Gen. Joe Breck Gantt to question the jurors, said he intended to call state witnesses today as they become available.

The key witness is expected to be Gary Thomas Rowe, who was revealed as a paid FBI informer on the Klan during Wilkins' first trial. Rowe, 35, testified that Wilkins shot Mrs. Liuzzo as she drove along U.S. 80 about nine miles east of here on the night of March 25. Rowe said he was in the car with the Klansmen.

He quoted Wilkins as saying after the shooting, "Baby brother, I don't miss."

Rowe's whereabouts since the earlier trial have been kept secret.

Out Of The Past

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Back in 1954, Suzy Middleton was a 17-year-old high school student with a boy friend. When he was on a vacation in Cooperstown, Pa., they corresponded a lot. Recently, two of his letters bearing 6-cent airmail stamps, and yellowed with age, were delivered 11 years late. Suzy is now Mrs. Edward Carwithen of Gainesville, Fla., and the mother of two children.

No One Expects Unanimity

The U.S. State Department's comment on anti-Viet Nam policy demonstrations last weekend made more sense than most official actions.

The department pointed out that the sum total of all the people participating in the demonstrations was an "infinitesimal fraction of the American people, the vast majority of whom have indicated their strong support of President Johnson's policies in Viet Nam."

This is an instance of a noisy minority getting attention out of all proportions to its actual size. No one expects unanimity in a war that never has been declared and never officially discussed.

If this is the way wars are going to be waged from now on, as some students of the subject say will be the prevailing practice, the government and all who wince at dissent will have to get used to the sight and sound of impatient disagreement. Americans do not clam up in the presence of things that puzzle them. They clamor.

The American people have been confronted with a massive challenge to their national poise —a major boost in the draft call, a partial mobilization of military reserves, growing casualty lists, the threat of an all-out conflict —and all this without a declaration of war, or even a credible explanation of what the fight is all about.

Surely, it was to have been expected that in these circumstances there would be dissent. It is a near-miracle of cohesiveness under pressure that dissent has been so largely confined to a few types of chronic dissenters—an "infinitesimal fraction of the American people."

This May Be Homecoming

If Congress belatedly adjourns by the end of this week, it will be like the garrulous old lady who quits talking long after everybody has stopped listening. Congress has lost its audience.

Long, drawn-out legislative sessions may be unavoidable in these complex times.

Crowded agendas may have become a fixed way of life in an era when organized society takes responsibility for everything disorganized citizens do not do for themselves.

It is no small thing to authorize spending more than $100 billion a year. Even if representatives and senators always agreed on equitable divisions of the total, it would keep them hustling to find ways to spend that much money.

Besides, there is the matter of personal comfort to be taken into consideration.

Most citizens sent to Washington by states and localities to speak up for representative democracy and the public welfare become attached to the prerogatives that go with the job.

They used to plead to be sent home in summertime to escape the oppressive heat of the Potomac flatlands, but nothing is said about that any more. Air conditioning made the difference.

Not only are they climatically comfortable but in all other ways they are accustomed to a way of life that makes going home seem like a dubious pleasure. In Washington, they are first class all the way. In their native haunts, they are local boys and girls whose constituents are almost morbidly curious about what they have been doing in Washington and why things haven't turned out better.

It isn't good for representative democracy to keep Congress in session so long the American people get sick of it and fall into the bad habit of thinking legislators cannot be very good at their jobs or they would get them done and go home, where the real work of the Republic is begging to be done.

But we can be sure nothing will change it, least of all the often-proclaimed desire of representatives and senators to go home. We think this is among the things we doubt anyone ever actually says, except when making jokes.

Better Alive Than Involved

The other side of the argument about whether Americans should get involved in other people's problems was presented graphically in a recent incident in New York City.

A 28-year-old father riding on a subway train with his wife and baby told a youthful hoodlum to quit molesting two elderly women. When the hoodlum resisted, the woman's volunteer protector pushed him off the train at the next stop.

The hoodlum returned, plunged a knife into the protector's chest and killed him. Subsequently, a youth who said he had committed the murder was persuaded to give himself up.

The volunteer protector of the two elderly women lost his life to no avail. Volunteer protectors are not the answer to the problem of hoodlums on subway trains or anywhere else in New York City.

Residents of cities know this and are reluctant to put their lives in jeopardy. Volunteers are no match for hoodlums armed with knives, guns and willingess to kill.

It is better to be alive than involved, which is the other side of the argument that has been raging in this country ever since it belatedly came to light that residents of cities where terror and murder are commonplace were unwilling to do voluntarily what police departments are unable to do professionally; i.e., protect the helpless against the hoodlums.

Anyone For Free Speech?

By Truman Will

It would help if all of us realized there are two kinds of free speech.

The first kind is legal.

"Congress shall make no law abridging freedom of speech."

All this means is that any attempt to stop free speech by law is unconstitutional.

Attempts will be made. They always have been, always will be. But in a legal showdown, they will have to be ruled unconstitutional.

They will be made because people at heart do not believe in free speech as a moral right and put up with it as a legal right only because they don't know how to get rid of it.

When they talk about free speech, they mean speech they agree with or speech they are making in their own right.

Test them on freedom for opinions they dislike coming from people they don't like and they will flunk. They do not believe anyone has a moral right to be wrong — that's the size of it.

And any opinion contrary to their own is wrong and therefore should be suppressed for fear of doing public and personal damage.

This is the way people feel about free speech; they're against it for others.

Failure to understand that this is so and why the legal guarantee of free speech does not betoken freedom for opinions we hate accounts for endless bickering and confusion.

It is a miracle freedom of speech has persisted against so much opposition. It is a miracle so many people are still fighting for free speech as a moral right in the face of so much resistance.

Nothing men do is likelier to get them into big trouble than to say what other men don't want to hear. Without a constitutional guarantee to protect them in court, men who say what they think would spend their lives in dungeons, if they survived.

They would be convicted on charges of high treason and low crimes.

They would be accused of fomenting civil unrest and open rebellion.

No one would give two whoops for the theory that it is a good idea to have all viewpoints freely expressed so free men can make free decisions.

That is only a theory.

The practice is contrary to the theory. The practice is to shut the mouths of everybody questioning prevailing opinions and to use every means short of openly violating the First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States . . .

"Congress shall make no law abridging freedom of speech."

But that doesn't bar people from trying to shut one another's mouths by all means short of legislation.

That's the problem with free speech.

"One thing you learn from child psychology books, no matter how you raise a child, one year and one edition later you find out you're all wrong!"

Beginning To Get The Idea

'Labor Is Holding An Empty Bag'

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON—

Now that the blustering and filibustering are over up on the Hill, labor is holding an empty bag. All it got was a turkey and not the kind you take home for Thanksgiving.

Victor Riesel

Despite its powerful political machinery, despite the millions of dollars it poured out and thousands of men it poured into recent election campaigns, labor got very little of what it really wanted for the holidays.

It lost more than Fourteen B. Behind the scenes what it really wanted for Christmas was a new powerful picketing law insiders call "common situs." No score. It wanted a higher minimum wage. No score. It wanted a new stretched-out unemployment insurance run by the government. No score. Lots of errors.

Forget that they are for medicare and federal aid to education and against poverty. Lots of folks are.

BUT THE LABOR people had an Oliver Twist streak in them this Congressional session. Their four specific demands were the real gut of their program because they would have put truly tough sinews in labor's industrial strength. This was the money package.

Repeal of Fourteen B would have meant millions of members and millions of dollars. A new "common situs" picketing law would have enabled the building and construction unions to picket all contractors on a common site — such as the moonport—even if the argument was between a culinary union and an on site snack bar operator.

At least a million construction jobs will be created by the new building program in the next few years. A new "common situs" law would give the unions a stronger chance to organize them.

As for a hike in the current $1.25 minimum wage—it would have automatically raised pay in many parts of the country without fuss or bargaining.

Federal unemployment insurance control would have resulted in almost permanent jobless pay on many fronts.

WHY DID LABOR come down the Hill with an empty bag?

Obviously, in all their crowding around the President for those ball point pens they forget his basic catechism—politics is the art of the possible.

President Johnson did not believe it was possible to push through the tough legislation wanted by his friends and allies. Further, he thought they nudged him too much. True, he kept his promise. He got the bills to the floors or through tough committees.

But he did not muscle the Senate because word from the boondocks was that most of the people out there wanted no pressure. He had private polls to prove it to himself and Larry O'Brien and Bill Moyers.

There were, for example, at least a dozen Senators who would have swung his way had he pressured them as much as he was being pressured by labor's lobbyists. There were some among the 12 who were abroad.

The President could have lifted the phone to someone such as Maryland's Sen. Brewster and he would have flown back to the U.S. The President did not call. Brewster did not fly back to vote for the labor bill.

TO THE INSIDERS, and this is right out of one Senator's mouth, there is an even more dramatic example.

The White House could have gotten some deal on the increase of the minimum wage standards. Such a push would not have provoked a filibuster. The President could have drawn blood. But he wanted no blood at this point.

Why? There's a full-fledged war on and there soon will be another hundred thousand men, probably twice that number, in South Viet Nam. This is not the time, White House advisers thought, to fight a big bloc in the Congress on a straight labor-management issue, which if won would be a straight labor victory in a fight which pretty evenly split the Senate.

And what of the thousands of new veterans soon to return and seek jobs in the technical crafts? Will they be forced to join a union or be kept from a trade after fighting in the jungles, one of the opposition Senators was set to ask very loudly.

Also there was the greatest wave of strikes in a long time. Except for 1957 this strike upheaval was the toughest in some 15 years. Furthermore, the strikes were in areas which hit the public—newspapers, space installations and railroads, for example.

AND THE LABOR leaders made the issue quite plain. Winning the package was to be the symbol of political influence in the land as well as on the Hill. The President, who has sided with them for so long, would have had to bend over backwards. This would have been an impossible position. He did not take it.

What does this all mean on the political front? There soon will be a high policy-making labor council skull session. Then we'll know.

'Extremism' And The 'Extremist'

By David Lawrence

What I "extremism" and who is an "extremist"?

The debate on this question is absorbing the attention of Republican and Democratic chieftains as they accuse each other of harboring "extremists" within their parties.

The furor started with a rare piece of intellectualism inserted by Barry Goldwater in his speech of acceptance at the 1964 Republican national convention when he said:

"I would remind you that extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice. And let me remind you, also, that moderation in pursuit of justice is no virtue."

Other Republican leaders who didn't like the fact he had defeated them in the convention accused their nominee of upholding everything from the John Birch Society to the Ku Klux Klan.

Since the Democratic strategists were avid readers of news dispatches from the convention, they promptly discovered that a big brush with plenty of paint on it had generously been made available to them. They used it prodigiously.

Now, more than a year later, it turns out that Barry Goldwater's syllogism strangely prophetic and that, instead of being merely descriptive of "extremism" on the "conservative" side of the fence, it is even more applicable to certain celebrities and organizations on the "liberal" side.

Thus, when Martin Luther King cried out that it isn't necessary to obey a "morally unjust" law, his pronouncement was virtually g[illegible]fied as Christian heroism by many mi[illegible]s as they participated in "sit-ins" and "l[illegible]ns."

They declared, in effect, they would rather fight than switch to the "reactionary" doctrines of obedience to law.

But Dr. King could quote Barry Goldwater, and so could the clergymen. Many of them sincerely believe that "extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice" and the slow-moving machinery of our courts and our legislative bodies is an indefensible type of "moderation in pursuit of justice."

All definitions of "extremism" offered thus far in the political debate, moreover, ignore the simple fact that political parties are not disciplined bodies which can decide on who is or is not to be admitted as a voter.

No party is monolithic. Each consists of factions and "splinters." It is interesting to note that the truly "extremist" political organizations — presided over by local bosses in the big cities — continue to ply their trade as they influence elections through invisible devices rarely exposed to the courts for punishment under existing law.

Maybe "extremists," too, are individuals and groups that benefit from the improprieties of American politics and the clandestine collection of campaign funds among labor unions and elections are forbidden, but they nevertheless are gathered regularly in defiance of the law.

So, without subscribing to anything the "John Birchers" or "Americans for Democratic Action" may say about moral or political treason, it does seem that the major party chieftains could spend their time more usefully by conducting informative "teach-ins" about the true meaning of national and international policies than by worrying about small groups of exhibitionists who seem to enjoy calling other people by harsh names and impugning their patriotism as well as their integrity.

'Permit Us To Have Bingo'

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

As commander of the Disabled American Veterans of East Liverpool I feel that it is about time the people and the merchants of East Liverpool should be informed of a few facts, and perhaps this letter may start some of you seeing our way.

The nonprofit and veterans' organizations in almost every city, township and community around us are very active and are receiving the full support of their own people as well as from a great many residents of East Liverpool while our own organizations are hurting from non - support. When our people go to these out-of-town clubs they are spending their money there and East Liverpool is left behind and forgotten. If you think the merchants of East Liverpool feel bad because the residents are shopping elsewhere, how do you think the veterans and other nonprofit organizations feel when they too are in great need of local support?

Bingo has been outlawed in East Liverpool for several years and the residents are going to surrounding communities to play the game. The attorney general of the state of Ohio will not give a decision as to the legality of bingo and it has been recommended by the state that nonprofit organizations that do not sell alcoholic beverages may operate bingo as a means of revenue. In almost every city in the state where there is a volunteer fire department you will find bingo. So far as bingo being a game of chance or gamble, it is looked on by almost everyone who plays it as an inexpensive form of entertainment. Most of the organizations that have bingo set the amount at 3 cards for 5 cents, and unless you are playing a lot of cards at once, you can get a great deal of enjoyment and entertainment for a whole evening for less than one dollar.

It seems to be a trend for the people of East Liverpool to seek what they want elsewhere and not where their friends and neighbors can and should serve them best. If the merchants and organizations want this business, we must do our best to satisfy their needs in quality merchandise, good service and the type of entertainment they seek.

In this letter I am appealing to the mayor, city Council, the merchants, the law enforcing officers, the newspaper, our radio station, our Chamber of Commerce and the Ministerial Association to help the nonprofit organizations and keep business in East Liverpool where it belongs . "Permit us to have bingo."

ROBERT MATTHEWS
Disabled American Veteran

(Editor's note — We can't speak for the others to whom you're appealing, but so far as The Review is concerned the answer is "no" where bingo is involved under the present interpretation of the law. The Ohio Constitution states clearly that "lotteries, and the sale of lottery tickets, for any purpose whatsoever, shall forever be prohibited in this state." Courts have ruled that this leaves no legal loopholes and that bingo for charity or for any other good purpose is just as illegal as bingo for private profit.)

The exact origin of the game of table tennis is not known, but it was first called "whiff-whaff" when a light ball of knitted web was employed. Then, early in this century, an Englishman came up with a hollow celluloid ball and the name of "ping-pong" was attached to the game because of the sound made by the ball striking paddles and table.

"Congress shall make no law abridging freedom of speech."

All this means is that any attempt to stop free speech by law is unconstitutional.

Attempts will be made. They always have been, always will be. But in a legal showdown, they will have to be ruled unconstitutional.

They will be made because people at heart do not believe in free speech as a moral right and put up with it as a legal right only because they don't know how to get rid of it.

When they talk about free speech, they mean speech they agree with or speech they are making in their own right.

Test them on freedom for opinions they dislike coming from people they don't like and they will flunk. They do not believe anyone has a moral right to be wrong — that's the size of it.

And any opinion contrary to their own is wrong and therefore should be suppressed for fear of doing public and personal damage.

This is the way people feel about free speech; they're against it for others.

Failure to understand that this is so and why the legal guarantee of free speech does not betoken freedom for opinions we hate accounts for endless bickering and confusion.

It is a miracle freedom of speech has persisted against so much opposition. It is a miracle so many people are still fighting for free speech as a moral right in the face of so much resistance.

Nothing men do is likelier to get them into big trouble than to say what other men don't want to hear. Without a constitutional guarantee to protect them in court, men who say what they think would spend their lives in dungeons, if they survived.

They would be convicted on charges of high treason and low crimes.

They would be accused of fomenting civil unrest and open rebellion.

No one would give two whoops for the theory that it is a good idea to have all viewpoints freely expressed so free men can make free decisions.

That is only a theory.

The practice is contrary to the theory. The practice is to shut the mouths of everybody questioning prevailing opinions and to use every means short of openly violating the First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States . . .

"Congress shall make no law abridging freedom of speech."

But that doesn't bar people from trying to shut one another's mouths by all means short of legislation.

That's the problem with free speech.

Beginning To Get The Idea

'Labor Is Holding An Empty Bag'

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON—

Now that the blustering and filibustering are over up on the Hill, labor is holding an empty bag. All it got was a turkey and not the kind you take home for Thanksgiving.

Victor Riesel

Despite its powerful political machinery, despite the millions of dollars it poured out and thousands of men it poured into recent election campaigns, labor got very little of what it really wanted for the holidays.

It lost more than Fourteen B. Behind the scenes what it really wanted for Christmas was a new powerful picketing law insiders call "common situs." No score. It wanted a higher minimum wage. No score. It wanted a new stretched-out unemployment insurance run by the government. No score. Lots of errors.

Forget that they are for medicare and federal aid to education and against poverty. Lots of folks are.

BUT THE LABOR people had an Oliver Twist streak in them this Congressional session. Their four specific demands were the real gut of their program because they would have put truly tough sinews in labor's industrial strength. This was the money package.

Repeal of Fourteen B would have meant millions of members and millions of dollars. A new "common situs" picketing law would have enabled the building and construction unions to picket all contractors on a common site — such as the moonport—even if the argument was between a culinary union and an on site snack bar operator.

At least a million construction jobs will be created by the new building program in the next few years. A new "common situs" law would give the unions a stronger chance to organize them.

As for a hike in the current $1.25 minimum wage—it would have automatically raised pay in many parts of the country without fuss or bargaining.

Federal unemployment insurance control would have resulted in almost permanent jobless pay on many fronts.

WHY DID LABOR come down the Hill with an empty bag?

Obviously, in all their crowding around the President for those ball point pens they forget his basic catechism—politics is the art of the possible.

President Johnson did not believe it was possible to push through the tough legislation wanted by his friends and allies. Further, he thought they nudged him too much. True, he kept his promise. He got the bills to the floors or through tough committees.

But he did not muscle the Senate because word from the boondocks was that most of the people out there wanted no pressure. He had private polls to prove it to himself and Larry O'Brien and Bill Moyers.

There were, for example, at least a dozen Senators who would have swung his way had he pressured them as much as he was being pressured by labor's lobbyists. There were some among the 12 who were abroad.

The President could have lifted the phone to someone such as Maryland's Sen. Brewster and he would have flown back to the U.S. The President did not call. Brewster did not fly back to vote for the labor bill.

TO THE INSIDERS, and this is right out of one Senator's mouth, there is an even more dramatic example.

The White House could have gotten some deal on the increase of the minimum wage standards. Such a push would not have provoked a filibuster. The President could have drawn blood. But he wanted no blood at this point.

Why? There's a full-fledged war on and there soon will be another hundred thousand men, probably twice that number, in South Viet Nam. This is not the time, White House advisers thought, to fight a big bloc in the Congress on a straight labor-management issue, which if won would be a straight labor victory in a fight which pretty evenly split the Senate.

And what of the thousands of new veterans soon to return and seek jobs in the technical crafts? Will they be forced to join a union or be kept from a trade after fighting in the jungles, one of the opposition Senators was set to ask very loudly.

Also there was the greatest wave of strikes in a long time. Except for 1957 this strike upheaval was the toughest in some 15 years. Furthermore, the strikes were in areas which hit the public—newspapers, space installations and railroads, for example.

AND THE LABOR leaders made the issue quite plain. Winning the package was to be the symbol of political influence in the land as well as on the Hill. The President, who has sided with them for so long, would have had to bend over backwards. This would have been an impossible position. He did not take it.

What does this all mean on the political front? There soon will be a high policy-making labor council skull session. Then we'll know.

'Extremism' And The 'Extremist'

By David Lawrence

What I "extremism" and who is an "extremist"?

The debate on this question is absorbing the attention of Republican and Democratic chieftains as they accuse each other of harboring "extremists" within their parties.

The furor started with a rare piece of intellectualism inserted by Barry Goldwater in his speech of acceptance at the 1964 Republican national convention when he said:

"I would remind you that extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice. And let me remind you, also, that moderation in pursuit of justice is no virtue."

Other Republican leaders who didn't like the fact he had defeated them in the convention accused their nominee of upholding everything from the John Birch Society to the Ku Klux Klan.

Since the Democratic strategists were avid readers of news dispatches from the convention, they promptly discovered that a big brush with plenty of paint on it had generously been made available to them. They used it prodigiously.

Now, more than a year later, it turns out that Barry Goldwater's syllogism strangely prophetic and that, instead of being merely descriptive of "extremism" on the "conservative" side of the fence, it is even more applicable to certain celebrities and organizations on the "liberal" side.

Thus, when Martin Luther King cried out that it isn't necessary to obey a "morally unjust" law, his pronouncement was virtually glorified as Christian heroism by many minis as they participated in "sit-ins" and "l ins."

They declared, in effect, they would rather fight than switch to the "reactionary" doctrines of obedience to law.

But Dr. King could quote Barry Goldwater, and so could the clergymen. Many of them sincerely believe that "extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice" and the slow-moving machinery of our courts and our legislative bodies is an indefensible type of "moderation in pursuit of justice."

All definitions of "extremism" offered thus far in the political debate, moreover, ignore the simple fact that political parties are not disciplined bodies which can decide on who is or is not to be admitted as a voter.

No party is monolithic. Each consists of factions and "splinters." It is interesting to note that the truly "extremist" political organizations — presided over by local bosses in the big cities — continue to ply their trade as they influence elections through invisible devices rarely exposed to the courts for punishment under existing law.

Maybe "extremists," too, are individuals and groups that benefit from the improprieties of American politics and the clandestine collection of campaign funds among labor unions and elections are forbidden, but they nevertheless are gathered regularly in defiance of the law.

So, without subscribing to anything the "John Birchers" or "Americans for Democratic Action" may say about moral or political treason, it does seem that the major party chieftains could spend their time more usefully by conducting informative "teach-ins" about the true meaning of national and international policies than by worrying about small groups of exhibitionists who seem to enjoy calling other people by harsh names and impugning their patriotism as well as their integrity.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

'Permit Us To Have Bingo'

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

As commander of the Disabled American Veterans of East Liverpool I feel that it is about time the people and the merchants of East Liverpool should be informed of a few facts, and perhaps this letter may start some of you seeing our way.

The nonprofit and veterans' organizations in almost every city, township and community around us are very active and are receiving the full support of their own people as well as from a great many residents of East Liverpool while our own organizations are hurting from non - support. When our people go to these out-of-town clubs they are spending their money there and East Liverpool is left behind and forgotten. If you think the merchants of East Liverpool feel bad because the residents are shopping elsewhere, how do you think the veterans and other nonprofit organizations feel when they too are in great need of local support?

Bingo has been outlawed in East Liverpool for several years and the residents are going to surrounding communities to play the game. The attorney general of the state of Ohio will not give a decision as to the legality of bingo and it has been recommended by the state that nonprofit organizations that do not sell alcoholic beverages may operate bingo as a means of revenue. In almost every city in the state where there is a volunteer fire department you will find bingo. So far as bingo being a game of chance or gamble, it is looked on by almost everyone who plays it as an inexpensive form of entertainment. Most of the organizations that have bingo set the amount at 3 cards for 5 cents, and unless you are playing a lot of cards at once, you can get a great deal of enjoyment and entertainment for a whole evening for less than one dollar.

It seems to be a trend for the people of East Liverpool to seek what they want elsewhere and not where their friends and neighbors can and should serve them best. If the merchants and organizations want this business, we must do our best to satisfy their needs in quality merchandise, good service and the type of entertainment they seek.

In this letter I am appealing to the mayor, city Council, the merchants, the law enforcing officers, the newspaper, our radio station, our Chamber of Commerce and the Ministerial Association to help the nonprofit organizations and keep business in East Liverpool where it belongs. "Permit us to have bingo."

ROBERT MATTHEWS
Disabled American Veterans

(Editor's note — We can't speak for the others to whom you're appealing, but so far as The Review is concerned the answer is "no" where bingo is involved under the present interpretation of the law. The Ohio Constitution states clearly that "lotteries, and the sale of lottery tickets, for any purpose whatsoever, shall forever be prohibited in this state." Courts have ruled that this leaves no legal loopholes and that bingo for charity or for any other good purpose is just as illegal as bingo for private profit.)

The exact origin of the game of table tennis is not known, but it was first called "whiff-whaff" when a light ball of knitted web was employed. Then, early in this century, an Englishman came up with a hollow celluloid ball and the name of "ping-pong" was attached to the game because of the sound made by the ball striking paddles and table.

Issue No. 2 Is Designed To Assist Urban Areas

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans get a third chance in the Nov. 2 election to forge a tool designed to help fast - growing urban areas solve some of their most pressing public service problems.

Called Issue No. 2, that tool will appear on ballots as a state constitutional change authorizing areas around cities of more than 50,000 population to form urban service authorities.

The authorities could place under one roof such services as police and fire protection, collection and disposal of garbage and refuse, transportation, water and sewer systems, and park and play areas to end costly duplication.

GAS AND electric services and schools could not be included. Townships and villages would keep their identities and continue to handle all functions not delegated to a service authority.

The urban service authority proposal is new in name only. In 1958, the legislature placed a similar issue on ballots under a metropolitan federation label. But the proposal lost under the weight of massive opposition to another issue called right-to-work.

Lawmakers put the metro issue on ballots again in 1959, but courts knocked it out on a technicality.

The present proposal would allow two or more counties, or portions of them, to form an authority around 50,000 population cities.

MAJORITY approval of voters statewide is required for adoption of the constitutional amendment. Voters in proposed authority areas then would have two more chances to express their views.

One calls for area approval of an urban service authority and election of a 15 - member commission to draft a charter. Within 18 months, the commission then would have to win voter approval of the charter to begin operations.

Statewide adoption of the constitutional amendment would permit voters in 13 counties to decide whether they want to create urban service authorities.

They are Cuyahoga County (Cleveland), Hamilton County (Cincinnati), Franklin (Columbus), Summit (Akron and Cuyahoga Falls), Mahoning (Youngstown), Montgomery (Dayton and Kettering), Lucas (Toledo), Stark (Canton), Clark (Springfield), Butler (Hamilton), Lorain (Lorain), Allen (Lima and Trumbull (Warren).

POPULATION growth could make a dozen more areas eligible to form authorities by 1970, backers of the proposal estimate. These areas include Ashtabula, East Liverpool, Sandusky, Lancaster, Findlay, Steubenville, Newark, Marion, Chillicothe, Portsmouth, Mansfield and Zanesville.

State Sen. Ed. Garrigan, R-Summit, a sponsor of the amendment proposal, termed it a way to provide area services.

"Our traditional units of local government, the county, municipality and township, do not possess the means to solve public service problems on an area-wide basis," Garrigan said.

He noted that Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes and former Democratic Gov. Michael V. Disalle have endorsed Issue No. 2 as have numerous individuals and organizations. There has been no organized opposition.

U.S. Jet Downed In Viet Destroyed By Our Planes

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the Navy's newest jet attack bombers, shot down inside Communist North Viet Nam, was pulverized by other U.S. Navy warplanes to prevent its secret electronic equipment from falling into Red hands.

Sources disclosing this today said the incident involving an A6A intruder occurred in mid-July, shortly after the first of the advanced bombers began operating against Communist North Viet Nam from the carrier Independence.

The Intruder apparently was struck by antiaircraft fire. Its two-man crew parachuted and was rescued.

The airplane, after the crew bailed out, continued on and finally crashed. Although badly damaged, sources said, enough of the fuselage was left to raise the possibility that the Communists might be able to salvage from it some of the electronic "black boxes" which make the Intruder able to operate in all kinds of weather, day and night, and to pinpoint moving or fixed targets.

With this in mind, U.S. commanders sent other warplanes to destroy the remains of the downed Intruder.

Two other Intruders have been lost in operations against North Viet Nam, it was said. There was no indication that either of these had to be given the same treatment as the first plane.

Carrier-based Intruders flew many hundreds of missions from the Independence during the monsoon rainy season.

It was considered significant that the force of jets which smashed a mobile surface-to-air missile unit in North Viet Nam two days ago was led in by an A6A Intruder. This plane, it is believed, was equipped with some of the radar-jamming gear which the A6A is known to carry. Jamming a missile battery's radar could render it ineffective.

The speedy A6A is built to carry 30 500-pound bombs or a combination of Bullpup missiles and 200-pound bombs. It also is capable of carrying nuclear weapons.

Slaying Ignites Gun Battle

Dominican Troops Man Fortress In Rebel Zone

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic, (AP) — Dominican troop manned a fortress in the rebel zone of Santo Domingo today after a gun battle was touched off in the capital by the killing of a labor leader.

A battalion of soldiers backed by tanks moved into the rebel zone Monday night and took up positions in Ozama fortress. The troops fired at groups of youths roaming the streets.

Rebel partisans shouted angry protests at the military units. The former rebel chief, Col. Francisco Caamano Deno, reportedly conferred with his aides. There were unverified reports that weapons were being distributed to fighters in the April rebellion who were disarmed after the peace agreement.

Government sources said Provisional President Hector Garcia-Godoy authorized the troop movement after a half-hour flurry of shooting in the dock area, a rebel stronghold devastated in the April revolution. The bulk of the rebel army is still quartered across the river from the docks.

The sources said Garcia-Godoy was sending more troops into the heart of Santo Domingo today to seize weapons held by civilians. A new law canceling civilian arms permits was to be published.

Newsmen were barred from the dock area.

Jose Ramirez, 34, secretary general of a dock workers organization, was slain and three dock workers wounded in a gun battle Monday with a rival group which was created during the revolt. Government troops then poured into the dock area and gunfire followed for half an hour.

There was no report of casualties.

Court Affirms Ewing Conviction On Trick Charge

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Ohio 1st District Court of Appeals has affirmed Alice Ewing's conviction on a larceny by trick charge.

Miss Ewing, 22, Fort Thomas, Ky., was convicted of using a credit plate belonging to Wanda Cook, 24, Bellevue, Ky. Miss Ewing's fiance, Robert Abbott, 22, Dayton, Ky., was sentenced to life imprisonment for the first degree murder of Miss Cook whose body was shipped to Cleveland in a large trunk. The state appeals court also is considering his motion for a new trial.

Police Judge William Lovelace fined Miss Ewing $300 and sentenced her to 90 days in the workhouse. She was also fined after being convicted on a charge of illegal removal of Miss Cook's body.

Miss Cook was shot Oct. 15, 1964, in a Cincinnati hotel room. Miss Ewing testified at Abbott's trial she helped to take her body from the hotel. Abbott testified she shot Miss Cook in a fit of jealous rage.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation. Adv.

So nice to have helpful neighbors

Ohio's electric companies "exchange" electricity...

...It helps us serve you better!

Like the neighborly loan of a cup of sugar, Ohio's eight investor-owned electric utilities exchange electricity. Ohio is a key state in a network of electric power lines that links electric companies serving 39 states east of the Rockies.

This neighborly action benefits you in many ways. Here are three:

1. It helps keep costs down, because fewer stand-by facilities are needed by your electric company.
2. Because these companies are interconnected for instantaneous exchange of power, you get even more dependable electric service.
3. By providing an ample supply of electricity in their service areas throughout the state, the investor-owned utilities help to attract new industries and new jobs to Ohio.

Ohio's forward-looking electric utilities pioneered this advancement more than 30 years ago. It has grown and developed, and is now the nation's largest power network.

Ohio's progress will continue... along these neighborly lines.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation. Adv.

So nice to have helpful neighbors

Ohio's electric companies "exchange" electricity...

...It helps us serve you better!

Like the neighborly loan of a cup of sugar, Ohio's eight investor-owned electric utilities exchange electricity. Ohio is a key state in a network of electric power lines that links electric companies serving 39 states east of the Rockies.

This neighborly action benefits you in many ways. Here are three:

1. It helps keep costs down, because fewer stand-by facilities are needed by your electric company.
2. Because these companies are interconnected for instantaneous exchange of power, you get even more dependable electric service.
3. By providing an ample supply of electricity in their service areas throughout the state, the investor-owned utilities help to attract new industries and new jobs to Ohio.

Ohio's forward-looking electric utilities pioneered this advancement more than 30 years ago. It has grown and developed, and is now the nation's largest power network.

Ohio's progress will continue... along these neighborly lines.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: I heard a radio and TV master of ceremonies make the statement that Heloise is really a man!

I adore men, but that statement (heard by thousands) disturbs me greatly, because I saw you on a television show and knew you immediately from seeing your picture each day, and you were all woman, and lovely.

For the sake of all your devoted fans and friends, please reassure them that you are a woman.

MRS. LEWIS CARMEAN.

Honey, the television camera showed the "true picture"!

I'm married to a sweet, bald-headed man, 6-feet-2; I'm five-feet-two and weigh 114.

We have a married son who is 23 years old, and a daughter 14.

That should answer any questions, don't you think? ? ?

The same old rumor has popped up many times, and probably will many more, but don't let it worry you. . . . I'm really just me:

PLAIN OL' HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I fry several slices of diced bacon at one time for dressing-up salads. spinach, etc., put it in a cup, and store in the refrigerator.

Just take out a spoonful, or any amount wanted, and add to the dressing, etc.

Saves time and effort.

Also, when I make macaroni and cheese, I cook extra macaroni to store in a covered container in the refrigerator, for making macaroni salad another day.

MRS. R. G. CROUCH.

If you'll keep that cooked macaroni UNDER water in a jar, it will be better.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Why spend extra money for magnetic pot holders when you can make them yourself?

Just buy a couple of little magnets (they can be found in most dime stores). Place one on a pot holder. Cut a strip of iron-on tape, lay this over the magnet and iron away!

When the pot holder is old and ready to be thrown away, save the magnet for a new pot holder.

DEAR HELOISE: I have been sick for some time and have to have plenty of pills, so when the bottles were empty, I removed the labels and used the bottles for things I needed in the hospital.

I put small change in two of the bottles, bobby pins in another, and hair nets in one.

They didn't take up much space, sealed nicely, and kept the drawer clean.

MRS. B. FITCH.

DEAR HELOISE: If you have two children who are always quarreling because they share a bedroom, try building a bookcase, or anything of that sort, three-fourths of the way to the ceiling and two-thirds the length of the room, and using it as a room divider.

This will give the children a sense of privacy.

KATHIE BORAAS.

-:-

DEAR HELOISE: If you have a tube of lipstick on which the outer cover is too loose, and may come off in your purse, cover the outside of the inner tube with nail polish (sometimes it takes two coats).

Be sure to let it dry well before putting together again. (I use clear polish, and it doesn't show.)

READER.

DEAR HELOISE: Blouses are so bulky around the bottom seam if worn inside a skirt, especially when wearing a suit.

I cut off the bottom hem with pinking shears, and the blouse doesn't show a seam around the stomach or hips.

MRS. R. G. CROUCH.

Production Resumed, Ending 4-Day Strike

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Full production was resumed at two plants of the Wilson Rubber Co. here Monday as members of United Rubber Workers Local 688 returned to their jobs, ending a four-day wildcat strike.

National Conference Urged On Glue Sniffing Situation

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Hamilton County Juvenile Court is calling for a national conference on glue sniffing—and a campaign to convince manufacturers and sellers of the danger this practice represents for the nation's youth.

"Glue sniffing is killing and crippling our youngsters," Juvenile Court Judge Benjamin S. Schwartz said in a statement Monday in outlining what he termed a program to remedy the situation.

"From this convocation there may be evolved a voluntary program to render the product harmless, or legislation to control the manufacture and distribution of these offending substances," the judge wrote in saying he already has contacted the Childrens Bureau at Washington, D. C., about the national conference.

Police say the practice is spreading among youngsters in Cincinnati.

Schwartz said that some glue containing a chemical called toluene has produced blood and organic ailments among youngsters in many cities. Some of the youths developed respiratory diseases and others "tend to deteriorate in their ability to control their impulses," the judge said.

"When 'high' under the influence of this toxic vapor, youngsters become extremely aggressive, easily sexually aroused, and exhibit little respect for authority or the personal and property rights of others," the report continued.

Overflow Crowd Of OSU Students Hears Aptheker

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An overflow, but generally unresponsive, crowd of Ohio State University students Monday heard Marxist Herbert Aptheker describe the "irresistible quality" of the "socialist revolution."

Aptheker was the first controversial speaker to appear on the campus since the board of trustees liberalized the speakers rule Sept. 14.

University action in the past to ban Aptheker's appearance on campus triggered a number of student demonstrations.

Aptheker cited increasing incidents of child beatings, civil disobedience and hecklers urging people contemplating suicide to jump as evidence of degeneration of society and ethical decay in the United States.

"That the socialist revolution meets and has met great difficulties and setbacks is by no means surprising," he said.

"On the contrary, that it now encompasses one-third of the globe and has appeared on four continents signifies in my view its irresistible quality. It makes possible a human social order while its alternatives increasingly require inhuman societies," Aptheker declared.

Aptheker's remarks were met with little reaction from about 400 students. The students were attentive but voiced neither approval nor disapproval.

Discussions Set In Sale Of Water To Nearby Area

Councilmen agreed Monday night to meet Thursday at 8 p.m. with county commissioners and the Board of Public Utilities to discuss the sale of water by the city to a new county - operated public service authority that would distribute it in St. Clair Township — primarily the Calcutta and Glenmoor areas.

Council has been studying the request for the sale of water since holding a conference about two months ago with the commissioners. The county officials explained at that time the utilities board has agreed to sell the water to the authority, but councilmanic approval is required.

The Thursday night meeting was set at the suggestion of Councilman Norman Bucher. He said there is intense interest in the water project in the nearby suburban area and Council should give its answer as quickly as possible.

The agency expects to have water service available to the township area in 1966, following up with sewage lines in approximately a year.

Clerk Lawrence Applegate was instructed to write the commissioners and the utilities board advising of the meeting.

Rules On License

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The State Liquor Department cannot refuse a liquor license to the $4.5 million Yankee Clipper Inn at Ohio 8 and the turnpike, according to a ruling by Common Pleas Judge C. V. D. DON'T WORRY, KIDS... EVERYBODY KNOWS IT'S A

MORAL ISSUE

One reason churchmen all over Ohio have been speaking out in favor of Issue 1 is that they know more state support for education is essential if all of Ohio's children are to receive the educational opportunities they need to make the most of their lives. Here is what some of them are saying:

"The provision of additional needed support for education in Ohio is imperative at this time."

Dr. John Wilson, Executive Director
The Ohio Council of Churches

"Methodists believe it to be the will of God that every person have an opportunity to develop his talents and to make his finest possible contribution to society, and this simply demands that adequate educational opportunities be available to all children, in whatever section of the State of Ohio they live and whatever their racial background . . .

"Methodists believe it to be the responsibility of the State, and also to be in the best interests of society to assure that such opportunities be available.

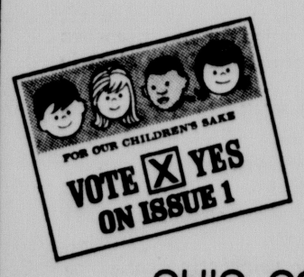

"The Board of Christian Social Concerns of the West Ohio Conference of Methodists have voted to support the PEP proposal (Plan for Educational Progress)."

Statement by the Board of Christian Social Concerns of the West Ohio Conference of the Methodist Church.

"I am personally in favor of Issue 1 at the November election. I believe that Ohio's children are entitled to the best education we are capable of giving them. The low per-student support of Ohio in comparison with other states is evidence that such support is lacking.

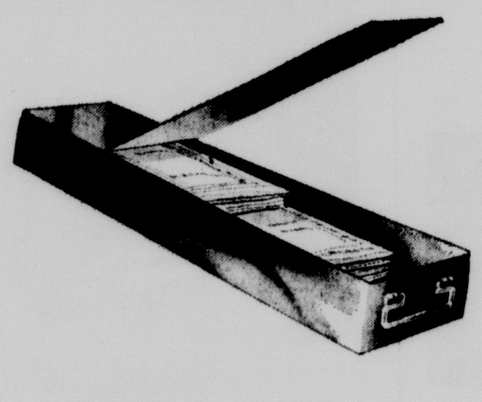

"As parents and citizens we have a moral and civic obligation to give our children the best possible training to face the world in which they will work and live."

Howard L. Hamilton, Executive Secretary
The Department of Ministerial Relations
United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

Measure Asked To Halt 'Peeling'

Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey recommended to Council Monday night that it consider enactment of an ordinance aimed specifically at curbing motorists who "peel" their tires in quick starts and disturb the quiet with noisy exhaust systems.

Vodrey read Council a letter from Police Chief A. J. Radeschi also recommending enactment of the legislation. He gave the ordinance committee copies of legislation enacted at Steubenville about two weeks ago, providing fines of $15 to $500 and a jail term of up to six months for a violation.

THE STEUBENVILLE ordinance declares that it was enacted "to regulate the unorthodox driving of motor vehicles..."

There are two principal clauses spelling out violations. They provide:

"1. — That no person shall accelerate any motor vehicle upon the streets in such a manner as to cause the tires of the vehicle upon forward movement to squeal, peel and or leave the tire markings upon the pavement.

"2. — That no person shall accelerate a motor vehicle upon the streets in such a manner as to cause the exhaust system of said vehicle to emit a loud, cracking or clattering noise unusual to the normal operation of a motor vehicle."

The ordinance also says "that the foot of the operator slipped on the accelerator is hereby declared not to be a valid defense for the violations of Sections 1 and 2."

East Liverpool police have cited motorists on occasion for so-called "peeling" and noisy exhausts, but there is no ordinance specifically aimed at the violations. Local police usually filed charges under the city's anti - noise ordinance.

IN OTHER business, Council voted to accept donation of a half - acre tract of land in West End offered to the city free by Delmar T. O'Hara, Wellsville attorney.

Vodrey used an improvised map to explain the location of the tract in a triangle formed by the junction of the Horn Switch siding and the Pennsylline tracks, adjacent to the sewage treatment plant.

The tract is 152-x-85-x-145 feet and the only access to it is across the city - owned property, Vodrey said.

"I recommend you accept it; you have nothing to lose," he commented. Council agreed to consider legislation officially accepting the donation.

Council referred to the street committee a petition from four Beechwood residents asking extension of a concrete storm sewer to connect onto a culvert built earlier along Park Way by Liverpool Township.

The property owners agreed to pay $100 each toward the cost, a total of $400. With the petition, Council received an estimate from Engineer George S. Bloomgren showing that materials alone would cost $6,790. He referred to the site at Leake Hollow. Councilman James Cunningham, head of the street committee, said it may be possible for the city to obtain federal aid for the work. The township's sewer encloses a small stream that flows downgrade, eventually emptying into the East End Run that enters the Ohio River at Ralston's Crossing on the River Rd.

Councilman Norman Bucher said the project might be extended to include a request for federal aid for enclosing the entire East End Run.

"Does anyone know how much it would cost to sewer it all the way?" Bucher asked. "We have had many complaints on that run that wanders through East End. It will have to be taken care of sometime. Maybe we could get federal aid. I know that the run is a big expense to the street department now."

Then Council approved a motion by Bucher, seconded by Councilman William Rea, to ask the street committee and the planning committee to study the possibility of a project to cover the entire run.

CUNNINGHAM recommended one change in an omnibus ordinance on city stop signs and other traffic regulations that has been under study by his committee.

The existing regulations call for one - way traffic westbound only in Dry Lane between Walnut St. and Broadway, he said. The alley runs alongside the north end of the Bus Terminal. Since buses turn east when they leave the terminal, the restriction to westbound movement should be removed, he said.

Cunningham also recommended erection of a "yield" sign rather than a stop sign for traffic moving onto St. Clair Ave. from Gardendale Ave. Before the St. Clair stretch was improved, there was no stop sign at the junction, but no problems resulted, he said.

The legislation on traffic regulations will be turned over to the ordinance committee to be presented at the next session Nov. 1, if possible, Cunningham said.

Cunningham also recommended that a ban on wrong - way parking be removed, effective Nov. 1, to permit motorists on hillside streets to park more easily during winter weather. President Floyd Murray said the City Code allows only the director or the police chief to suspend enforcement of traffic regulations for 90-day periods.

Councilman Donald Smith asked Vodrey to inspect Gardendale Ave. Since the street was blacktopped, some of the manhole covers are two to three inches below the rest of the surface, raising the possibliity of damage to auto springs, Smith said.

Councilman William Davis suggested the street department begin work on repainting street center lines. Vodrey replied the job already is well under way. But a new blacktop surface on Pennsylvania Ave. cannot be lined for at least 10 days, as the material must cure or it will absorb most of the paint, Vodrey added.

Davis asked what has been done about marking the widened St. Clair Ave. stretch. Vodrey said he consulted with two employes of the State Highoffice, but they knew nothing of the regulations required by the Bureau of Public Roads.

He said he has written to the New Philadelphia office to learn the names of the officials in the federal agency whom he should consult. Council was advised two weeks ago parking will be banned entirely on the east side of the stretch. Parking also will be banned on the west sides during the morning and evening rush hours.

MURRAY THANKED Vodrey for his strict supervision of the project in which Pennsylvania Ave., Elizabeth St. and Harvey Ave. were resurfaced as part of a Highway Department project.

"The director and the engineer's office were on the job," he said. "It is a job well done."

Smith commented that a railroad spur crossing Harvey Ave. east of Putnam St. appears rougher since the street was resurfaced. Vodrey said the only solution appears to be to request the Pennsylvania Railroad to raise its tracks to a level with the new surface. He was asked to pass on the request to the railroad.

Rea said he has received many complaints that cars parked at the rear of a service station property at Pennsylvania Ave. and Park Way block the view of motorists emerging from Monaca St. and intending to turn right onto Park Way.

Harold Sneddon, district manager of the Ohio Valley Gas Co., reported the utility's crews have completed the annual inspection of all church buildings, checking for leaks. In addition, the utility has replaced many sections of lines in order that it would not have to tear up newly - surfaced streets, he said.

One such project was installation of 750 feet of 4-inch line underneath a sidewalk on Harvey Ave., he said. If the line ever needs service, it will not be necessary to excavate the street, he said.

Murray thanked the gas company for its cooperation with the city, citing specifically the Harvey Ave. project.

COUNCIL received a letter from Vodrey explaining that a caucus meeting has been sought by Local 24, International Association of Fire - Fighters, to discuss "fringe benefits" for members of the fire department. Departments are required to clear requests for such meetings through the director.

Murray said the finance committee will set a date for the meeting and then notify the firemen's union.

Council gave the street committee a letter from John R. Como of Shadyside Ave. asserting that plans to widen Shadyside may encroach on his property and eliminate a parking space he provided for his auto.

Como said his deed shows the city has a 20-foot right-of-way for the street. The road now is 16 feet wide and if it is widened by 10 feet it appears it will be encroaching on his property by six feet, Como said.

"I expect restitution for damages or a parking place to be provided for my car by the city," Como said.

The meeting opened with invocation by Smith. Councilman Donald Hancock was excused because he was at work at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co.

Judge Welcomed On Return

Monday was a day of surprises for both Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff and his staff.

To congratulate the jurist on the assumption of the presidency of the National Association of Municipal Judges and his return to the local bench, the staff staged a surprise party in the law library, with Mrs. Ruth Chertoff, his wife; Mrs. Fannie Hoffrichter, his mother-in-law; City Hall employes, city attorneys and friends among the guests.

AS A surprise for his staff, Judge Chertoff read a letter from President Johnson which he had received while attending the annual convention of the NAMJ in Montreal, Quebec, Canada, where he was installed as president. It read:

"As you assume the presidency of the National Association of Municipal Judges, I am happy to express to you my warm congratulations and good wishes.

"Few courts are more important than the Municipal Courts of Canada and the United States. These are the people's courts.

"For most citizens, their first meeting with the law is in the Municipal Courts. It is vital that this first meeting be one that will help them achieve and maintain a high regard for the law.

"I know that this is the very commendable goal of your association.

"May your annual convention usher in another year of accomplishments."

IT WAS the third letter that Judge Chertoff has received from Johnson. The first was in September 1963 after the then vice president had addressed a Democratic rally at Beaver Local High School and was a guest at the Chertoff home. Another letter thanking the judge for his expression of confidence was received the following November after Johnson had assumed the presidency following the assassination of John F. Kennedy.

Clerk Wilbur J. Harmon, Mrs. Phyllis Stewart and Mrs. Helen Treleven, deputy clerks, and Bailiff Wilbert P. Taylor arranged the party, serving coffee and cake to the guests. The cake bore the inscription, "Congratulations New NAMJ President Hon. Samuel M. Chertoff."

A sign and a poem were hung in the library decorated with Halloween colors. The sign read, Welcome Home, Judge Chertoff. It's Great To Have You Back."

Uniform Policy On Truancy Given Board Approval Here

A uniform policy on truancy, which is being recommended for adoption by all school districts in the county and which is similar to the present East Liverpool policy, was given formal approval Monday night by the Board of Education.

In recommending the action, Supt. Paul H. Blair said truancy has been discussed frequently at meetings of county superintendents and it was decided that a uniform policy was needed.

A committee headed by Asst. Supt. George Hargraves drew up the policy after hearing suggestions from Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin.

The policy sets a pattern for school districts to follow. On the first offense determined to be truancy, the parents will be informed and the child will be assessed the school's penalty.

For the second offense, a parental conference will be required and the juvenile officer, or in the case of the county school district, the county attendance officer, will be informed of the truancy.

When a child's absence has been determined for the third time, he will be referred to the juvenile officer or county attendance officer for disposition.

Notification of parents on a child's absence is left up to the individual school district, but if no contract has been made between the home and school during the first five consecutive days of absence, the parent shall be contacted by the school.

If necessary to have a parental conference regarding discipline or truancy, Juvenile Court will support the decision of the school as to whether one or both parents shall attend. If parents refuse to attend, they can be ordered to do so by the court, Blair said in response to a question.

Schools are expected to exhaust all measures such as counseling, parental conferences and suspension before referring a youngster to the juvenile officer for disposition as an incorrigible or insubordinate.

Any child 16 or older and who is two or more years behind his class and is a discipline problem will be referred to Judge Tobin for expulsion.

Something That We Must Do, Injured Marine Says Of Viet

The protest marches over the weekend against the fighting in Viet Nam lend emphasis to the feeling of an East Liverpool Marine recently wounded near Da Nang and now a patient at the U.S. Naval Hospital in Great Lakes, Ill.

He is Pfc. John W. McCoy, son of Mrs. Florence McCoy of Church Ln.

Interviewed recently by a staff writer with the Cleveland Press, McCoy had this to say:

"We were very happy when we heard President Johnson had ordered the married men drafted. Maybe everybody will learn this country is worth something.

"They don't seem to realize that if the Reds take South Viet Nam, they'll go on to Thailand or somewhere else next, then keep going and pretty soon we'll be in real trouble."

There should be no draft dodgers. Every able - bodied man in the U.S. should either enlist or be drafted, the local Marine said.

Pvt. McCoy said he and a patrol were checking out a small village near Da Nang on Sept. 13 when he was wounded.

"We heard some firing in the village. One man checked the gate for mines, but he must have slipped up. He missed one. It went off between me and the man at my left. three of us were wounded. It broke bones in one leg and peppered the other one.

"I'd hate to go back there again, but I'd do it all over again if I had to. Somebody has to help them over there."

Johnson

the hospital. Moyers said, "he is slightly under 200," whereas he was 202 shortly before the operation.

The President said he felt "pretty good." But there was little conviction in his voice.

"Following his lunch," Moyers said, "he read over some papers, signed some mail, and then because he was experiencing some gas pains and also because he needed the exercise, the doctors suggested that he take a somewhat extended walk of about a half hour."

This he did. Mrs. Johnson accompanied him. They held hands now and then and admired the trees and flowers. A swarm of reporters and photographers trailed along part of the way.

Johnson was in colorful, cheerful attire: a checked, olive-colored sports jacket, lime green slacks, black loafers, and matching socks and knit pullover sports shirt in blazing red. The shirt collar was up and the shirt tail was out.

Moyers said Johnson told him along the way: "It takes something to take these steps."

But after the walk and an outing on the hospital sun deck, the President and First Lady came back outside for another shorter stroll.

At this point Moyers was being asked at a briefing whether the chief executive had reached a turning point.

"I wouldn't describe it as a turning point," Moyers answered.

"The President told me going up in the elevator a minute ago that walking tired him very greatly, but that the doctors felt he needed this exercise and needed to force himself to do it in order to retain his strength.

"I still observe that the President is wearied by his activities, whether they are of a peripatetic nature, as this afternoon, or signing bills or reading reports or affixing his signature to mail at his desk.

"I think the doctors are not dissatisfied with his progress and feel that his progress, including up until today, is as they predicted.

'I also think that it is going to take the President longer to regain his strength and to recover and to return to the peak of activity he had reached prior to his operation than anyone thought."

Action Seeks $125,000 In Fatal Wreck

LISBON — An East Liverpool man has filed suit for $125,000 in Common Pleas Court here as the aftermath of a fatal auto accident.

Samuel T. Hays, 52, of 2406 St. Clair Ave. charged in his petition that Gene A. Miller of 220 N. Madison St., Salem, was negligent in the mishap which claimed the life of Hays' son, Samuel Robert Hays, 20, on Dec. 13, 1964.

The petition accuses Miller of failing to heed a stop sign on Route 14 and striking a car driven by the plaintiff's son.

Hays, a student at Youngstown University, died four hours after the collision.

Miller was indicted by a Jan. 8 grand jury on a charge of manslaughter in the second degree. At arraignment, he pleaded guilty and requested probation.

On April 20, Miller was placed on two years' probation and his operator's license was suspended for one year.

Measure Asked To Halt 'Peeling'

Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey recommended to Council Monday night that it consider enactment of an ordinance aimed specifically at curbing motorists who "peel" their tires in quick starts and disturb the quiet with noisy exhaust systems.

Vodrey read Council a letter from Police Chief A. J. Radeschi also recommending enactment of the legislation. He gave the ordinance committee copies of legislation enacted at Steubenville about two weeks ago, providing fines of $15 to $500 and a jail term of up to six months for a violation.

The ordinance also says "that the foot of the operator slipped on the accelerator is hereby declared not to be a valid defense for the violations of Sections 1 and 2."

East Liverpool police have cited motorists on occasion for so-called "peeling" and noisy exhausts, but there is no ordinance specifically aimed at the violations. Local police usually filed charges under the city's anti - noise ordinance.

"They don't seem to realize that if the Reds take South Viet Nam, they'll go on to Thailand or somewhere else next, then keep going and pretty soon we'll be in real trouble."

There should be no draft dodgers. Every able - bodied man in the U.S. should either enlist or be drafted, the local Marine said.

Pvt. McCoy said he and a patrol were checking out a small village near Da Nang on Sept. 13 when he was wounded.

"We heard some firing in the village. One man checked the gate for mines, but he must have slipped up. He missed one. It went off between me and the man at my left. three of us were wounded. It broke bones in one leg and peppered the other one.

"I'd hate to go back there again, but I'd do it all over again if I had to. Somebody has to help them over there."

the hospital. Moyers said, "he is slightly under 200," whereas he was 202 shortly before the operation.

The President said he felt "pretty good." But there was little conviction in his voice.

"Following his lunch," Moyers said, "he read over some papers, signed some mail, and then because he was experiencing some gas pains and also because he needed the exercise, the doctors suggested that he take a somewhat extended walk of about a half hour."

This he did. Mrs. Johnson accompanied him. They held hands now and then and admired the trees and flowers. A swarm of reporters and photographers trailed along part of the way.

Johnson was in colorful, cheerful attire: a checked, olive-colored sports jacket, lime green slacks, black loafers, and matching socks and knit pullover sports shirt in blazing red. The shirt collar was up and the shirt tail was out.

Moyers said Johnson told him along the way: "It takes something to take these steps."

But after the walk and an outing on the hospital sun deck, the President and First Lady came back outside for another shorter stroll.

At this point Moyers was being asked at a briefing whether the chief executive had reached a turning point.

"I wouldn't describe it as a turning point," Moyers answered.

"The President told me going up in the elevator a minute ago that walking tired him very greatly, but that the doctors felt he needed this exercise and needed to force himself to do it in order to retain his strength.

"I still observe that the President is wearied by his activities, whether they are of a peripatetic nature, as this afternoon, or signing bills or reading reports or affixing his signature to mail at his desk.

"I think the doctors are not dissatisfied with his progress and feel that his progress, including up until today, is as they predicted.

'I also think that it is going to take the President longer to regain his strength and to recover and to return to the peak of activity he had reached prior to his operation than anyone thought."

Action Seeks $125,000 In Fatal Wreck

LISBON — An East Liverpool man has filed suit for $125,000 in Common Pleas Court here as the aftermath of a fatal auto accident.

Samuel T. Hays, 52, of 2406 St. Clair Ave. charged in his petition that Gene A. Miller of 220 N. Madison St., Salem, was negligent in the mishap which claimed the life of Hays' son, Samuel Robert Hays, 20, on Dec. 13, 1964.

The petition accuses Miller of failing to heed a stop sign on Route 14 and striking a car driven by the plaintiff's son.

Hays, a student at Youngstown University, died four hours after the collision.

Miller was indicted by a Jan. 8 grand jury on a charge of manslaughter in the second degree. At arraignment, he pleaded guilty and requested probation.

On April 20, Miller was placed on two years' probation and his operator's license was suspended for one year.

CENTRAL FEDERAL of WELLSVILLE

Out Of The Air

By RICHARD DOAN

The Season's First Nielsens

When Jim Aubrey, absolute Czar of CBS-TV until last February, let "Bewitched" slip through his fingers and wind up on a rival network, great were the groans on upper CBS corporate levels.

Richard Doan

And Aubrey was wrong again when he tried to fend off "Gomer Pyle, USMC" because he didn't like military life shows. (He accepted it in his evening lineup at the sponsor's insistence.)

-:-

BUT HE WAS RIGHT, as it turns out, in buying a farce on World War II POW camp life called "Hogan's Heroes" and a twist on "The Beverly Hillbillies" called "Green Acres."

The first national Nielsens on the new TV prime time season are out, and to no one's surprise in informed industry circles NBC's "Bonanza" is again the No. 1 show and NBC is confirmed as the No. 1 network on the basis of evening program average ratings.

In second place behind "Bonanza" in popularity is "Bewitched," on ABC, and in third place is "Gomer Pyle."

Dick Van Dyke's comedy series in fourth is closely trailed by "Hogan's Heroes."

CONFOUNDING some TV prophets, Lucille Ball, struggling along without Vivian Vance, is in sixth place, and Andy Griffith, shy of Don Knotts, is in seventh.

After that comes "Green Acres," followed by two new ABC series, "Man Called Shenandoah" and "F Troop."

That gives CBS six shows on the top 10 and ABC three to NBC's one, despite NBC's over-all dominance.

Veteran observers of the TV scene found two significant aspects to the Nielsen poll:

1. Whereas the three networks were in a neck-and-neck ratings race last season—and predicted to be so this fall, too—ABC has fallen behind again. The evening averages: NBC, 18.7; CBS, 17.9; ABC, 17.0. A year ago, in the Oct. 27 Nielsens, ABC toppled CBS as the country's most watched network and placed five in the top 10 list.

2. The public, while faithful to many established favorite shows, was doing a good deal of sampling of the new series, 4 of the top 10 being freshman entries this fall.

WELL UP in the Nielsens were such other new series as "Get Smart," "Smothers Brothers," "Run for Your Life," Dean Martin's variety hour, "The FBI," "Don't Eat the Daisies," "I Spy" and "Legend of Jesse James."

At the bottom of the ratings heap (reading from the bottom up) were: "CBS Reports," "Convoy," "Shindig," "Hank," "Slattery's People," "Donna Reed," "Camp Runamuck," "Ozzie and Harriet" and "Trials of O'Brien."

ANOTHER in a long series of attempts to create a fourth commercial television network has been disclosed. The news was met with some skepticism.

Industry quarters familiar with such proposals in the past, and whose participation in such an undertaking would be almost essential, viewed the possibilities of the reported venture's getting a foothold as extremely dim.

The new attempt links Pat Weaver, one-time NBC board chairman, and Oliver Treyz, former ABC-TV president, both of whom have figured in earlier efforts of this sort, dating back in Weaver's case to 1958.

THE TWO former network bosses hope to sign up stations not already affiliated with the three national networks in the 15 biggest cities of the country to carry four hours weekly of original programming on Sunday nights from 7 to 11 p.m.

Prime Network, Inc., as the service would be called, would supply the shows to the stations on film shipped by mail. No coaxial cables would be used.

Weaver said disclosure of the project was "premature," that it was "only one of several" new undertakings he was working on, and that he was "still running" Subscription TeleVision, Inc., the pay TV operation ousted from California by a voter referendum last fall.

He said he was "committed not to discuss" the Prime Network project, but conceded that published details were true.

Small Island To Tax Cars By Their Length

JERSEY, Channel Islands (AP) — Jersey, an island with 30,000 cars and only 500 miles of road, has decided to tax cars by length.

The new taxes are to raise money for new roads and encourage the island's 65,000 population to use smaller cars.

Jersey, though subject to the British monarchy, has its own parliament. Many wealthy Britons live here to avoid the heavier British income tax and death duties.

2 Ex-Convicts Face Possible Murder Count

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two ex-convicts from California face possible first - degree murder charges in a kidnap-slaying that police say started out as a robbery.

Police from suburban Valley View and Garfield Heights said Monday they will ask the Cuyahoga County Grand Jury to consider first-degree murder charges against Vincent J. Podojil and Martin U. Still, both 28.

They were picked up Sunday after the early morning shooting of Mrs. James Kosciewicz, 46, mother of three from suburban Valley View. She and a male companion had jumped into the Ohio Canal to escape their abductors.

Mrs. Kosciewicz was shot in the head while struggling for air in the water. Her companion, Harry E. Scott, 38, of Bath, Ohio, was not hit.

Podojil and Still were questioned by police Monday and were to be confined in Cuyahoga County Jail today to await grand jury action. Police said they would be charged under a state law which says all participants in an armed robbery in which a slaying is committed can be charged with first-degree murder.

No charges have yet been filed. The men said they were from Hollywood and El Monte, Calif., police said. Podojil was raised in Cleveland. Still, arrested in an Akron motel, first said he was Clyde W. Alameda of Hollywood, Calif., and had other identification with him.

The pair had planned to rob a night club in suburban Independence early Sunday, but it was too crowded and they decided instead to rob Mrs. Kosciewicz and Scott, police said Podojil told them. The couple was seated outside the nightclub in Mrs. Kosciewicz's auto before they were forced to go to the canal.

Modern 'Pied Pipers' Declare War On Rats

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — This capital of Argentina has three million people — and three million rats.

That, anyway, is what a group of expert exterminators estimated in a week submitted to City Hall this week.

The modern "Pied Pipers" said it will take them up to six months to bring the rodents under control — at a total cost of 271.7 million pesos, about $1.5 million at the official exchange rate.

There are black rats, gray rats and even some albino rats and — the experts estimate— there will be three rats for every man, woman and child within three years unless the city does something about it quick.

To reach spots between the tines of your forks when cleaning silver, dip a pipe cleaner in silver polish and it will easily do the trick.

Girls Orphange Open Since 1865 To Close

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP) — St. Vincent Home for Girls, which has sheltered orphans in Santa Fe since 1865, will close June 1966.

Msgr. William Bradley, director of Catholic Charities for the Archdiocese of Santa Fe, said the institution would be closed because of the small number of girls living at the home.

The orphanage was opened by two members of the Motherhouse of the Sisters of Charity with one Indian baby found on a battlefield.

At one time, the orphanage, occupying an adobe house on the hospital grounds, accommodated 100 orphaned girls and a school.

The home's location was moved in 1954 when the adobe and several other buildings were torn down.

Small Boat Brings In 16 More Cubans

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Sixteen refugee from Cuban communism arrived here today as an assortment of small boats waited to leave Cuban ports for Florida.

The refugees—nine adults and seven children—arrived aboard a 23-foot inboard motor boat.

Heavy two - way small - boat traffic between Cuba and Florida has resulted in more than 600 new Cuban refugees reaching American soil. But the growing flotilla is becoming top heavy at the Cuban end, according to refugees and returning exiles.

"I counted a waiting line of 170 boats at Camarioca," said Pedro Cifuentes, an exile from Miami who arrived from the Cuban exit point Monday with 16 refugees.

His was one of 10 boats bringing 160 refugees to Florida during the day.

One Gift Works Many Wonders/GIVE THE UNITED WAY

Out Of The Air

By RICHARD DOAN

The Season's First Nielsens

When Jim Aubrey, absolute Czar of CBS-TV until last February, let "Bewitched" slip through his fingers and wind up on a rival network, great were the groans on upper CBS corporate levels.

Richard Doan

And Aubrey was wrong again when he tried to fend off "Gomer Pyle, USMC" because he didn't like military life shows. (He accepted it in his evening lineup at the sponsor's insistence.)

-:-

BUT HE WAS RIGHT, as it turns out, in buying a farce on World War II POW camp life called "Hogan's Heroes" and a twist on "The Beverly Hillbillies" called "Green Acres."

The first national Nielsens on the new TV prime time season are out, and to no one's surprise in informed industry circles NBC's "Bonanza" is again the No. 1 show and NBC is confirmed as the No. 1 network on the basis of evening program average ratings.

In second place behind "Bonanza" in popularity is "Bewitched," on ABC, and in third place is "Gomer Pyle."

Dick Van Dyke's comedy series in fourth is closely trailed by "Hogan's Heroes."

CONFOUNDING some TV prophets, Lucille Ball, struggling along without Vivian Vance, is in sixth place, and Andy Griffith, shy of Don Knotts, is in seventh.

After that comes "Green Acres," followed by two new ABC series, "Man Called Shenandoah" and "F Troop."

That gives CBS six shows on the top 10 and ABC three to NBC's one, despite NBC's over-all dominance.

Veteran observers of the TV scene found two significant aspects to the Nielsen poll:

1. Whereas the three networks were in a neck-and-neck ratings race last season—and predicted to be so this fall, too—ABC has fallen behind again. The evening averages: NBC, 18.7; CBS, 17.9; ABC, 17.0. A year ago, in the Oct. 27 Nielsens, ABC toppled CBS as the country's most watched network and placed five in the top 10 list.

2. The public, while faithful to many established favorite shows, was doing a good deal of sampling of the new series, 4 of the top 10 being freshman entries this fall.

WELL UP in the Nielsens were such other new series as "Get Smart," "Smothers Brothers," "Run for Your Life," Dean Martin's variety hour, "The FBI," "Don't Eat the Daisies," "I Spy" and "Legend of Jesse James."

At the bottom of the ratings heap (reading from the bottom up) were: "CBS Reports," "Convoy," "Shindig," "Hank," "Slattery's People," "Donna Reed," "Camp Runamuck," "Ozzie and Harriet" and "Trials of O'Brien."

ANOTHER in a long series of attempts to create a fourth commercial television network has been disclosed. The news was met with some skepticism.

Industry quarters familiar with such proposals in the past, and whose participation in such an undertaking would be almost essential, viewed the possibilities of the reported venture's getting a foothold as extremely dim.

The new attempt links Pat Weaver, one-time NBC board chairman, and Oliver Treyz, former ABC-TV president, both of whom have figured in earlier efforts of this sort, dating back in Weaver's case to 1958.

THE TWO former network bosses hope to sign up stations not already affiliated with the three national networks in the 15 biggest cities of the country to carry four hours weekly of original programming on Sunday nights from 7 to 11 p.m.

Prime Network, Inc., as the service would be called, would supply the shows to the stations on film shipped by mail. No coaxial cables would be used.

Weaver said disclosure of the project was "premature," that it was "only one of several" new undertakings he was working on, and that he was "still running" Subscription TeleVision, Inc., the pay TV operation ousted from California by a voter referendum last fall.

He said he was "committed not to discuss" the Prime Network project, but conceded that published details were true.

Small Island To Tax Cars By Their Length

JERSEY, Channel Islands (AP) — Jersey, an island with 30,000 cars and only 500 miles of road, has decided to tax cars by length.

The new taxes are to raise money for new roads and encourage the island's 65,000 population to use smaller cars.

Jersey, though subject to the British monarchy, has its own parliament. Many wealthy Britons live here to avoid the heavier British income tax and death duties.

Bridegroom's Shopping 'Champion'

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Who wins out when young newlyweds disagree on what to buy in the supermarket? The bride usually gives in and buys the brand her husband prefers, a survey shows.

A report on the survey which came up with this man-warming finding was presented today to the annual meeting of the National Association of Food Chains.

The study delved into the shopping habits of the nation's 57 million housewives and included a hard look at the buying practices of newlyweds who have an average weekly food budget of $20.43.

The new bride as a shopper, said the report, is "serious, studious, value-minded, uncertain, responsive, appreciative and proud.

"About two-thirds of brands purchased are the same as mother bought," the study said, but "when bride and groom disagree — the bride usually surrenders and buys the brand her husband prefers.'

Other findings:

— Upper income families buy more than three times as much frozen food and six times as much frozen baked goods as lower income families. They also are less likely to try new products, less interested in food stamps and buy more than four times as much colored toilet tissue as other families.

— Trade stamps are most important to blue collar families, who spend a greater portion of their incomes on food than any other group. This group is also most loyal to its supermarkets.

— Small town families are very stamp conscious, switch markets regularly and spend much less than city groups on meat and produce.

The market study, which will take another 15 months to complete, is sponsored by the Kroger Co., the Progressive Grocer magazine and the Reuben H. Donnelley Corp.

Campaign Launched

Citizens' Group Supports Levy To Hike School Pay

A campaign to inform the public of the need for increased teachers' salaries in the East Liverpool School District has been launched by the Citizens Committee for Better Schools.

Speakers already have begun discussing the proposed 3.5-mill levy on the Nov. 2 general election ballot at meetings of parent - teacher groups and other organizations, H. Jud English, chairman of the committee announced.

The committee and anyone interested in the schools and the levy will meet Thursday night at 8 at Room 204 in the high school.

The need to maintain an adequate teacher salary schedule was underscored by English as a means of retaining capable and qualified instructors and to attract new teachers and other personnel.

The committee also has prepared material to be distributed to parents this week with students' report cards.

Handbills, car slogans, letters, advertisements, radio programs and other means of explaining the need for the levy are planned.

An open house will be held at the schools starting Monday, English said.

There are 232 teachers and 53 non - certified personnel — such as office workers, cafeteria personnel, custodians and bus drivers — who would benefit under the proposed levy.

English pointed out East Liverpool's salary schedule for new teachers with bachelors' degrees, without experience, is $4,300, lower than Salem, Toronto, Midland, South Side, Hancock County, Beaver Local, Alliance, Steubenville and several other districts.

He said the need to increase salaries is vital if East Liverpool is to keep its good teachers and be able to compete with other schools for new teachers.

Cost of the levy to the average home owner in the city would amount to 27 cents a week.

"This is certainly not an expensive way to guarantee that our new schools will have capable teachers," English said.

He pointed out the recent funds allotted by the state to supplement teachers' pay go to all districts and do not help East Liverpool's salary schedule rise in proportion.

West Will Serve As Emcee During Quartets' Parade

Al West will serve as master of ceremonies for the parade of quartets Nov. 6 at Westgate School.

His selection was announced when Sweet Adelines, Inc., met at the Potters Savings and Loan Co. annex, with 27 attending. West is ceramic engineer for the Harker China Co.

Mrs. Faye Wright announced that all paid ads should be turned in immediately. A special rehearsal for the show will be conducted tonight at the Glenmoor offices of the Ohio Valley Gas Co. Mrs. Nancy Beaver will direct.

Mrs. Madalyn Mack, president, read an invitation, which the group accepted, to sing at the close of the Hometown Fall Festival Saturday, Oct. 30.

The chapter endorsed the proposed levy for the Elkton Retarded Children's School.

Miss Nancy McBrian read correspondence.

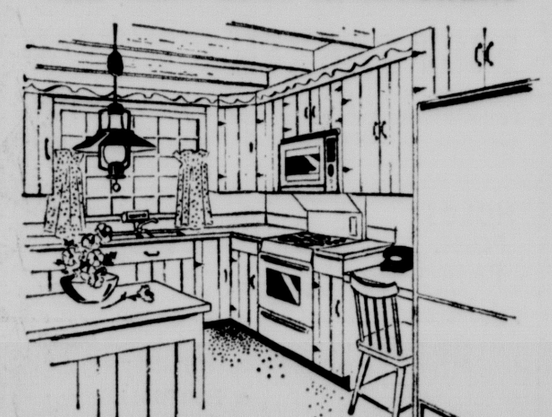

The next regular session will be Friday at the annex.

Meeting Is Canceled By Greenwood Death

A scheduled meeting of the Beaver Local School District Board of Education Monday night was canceled because of the death of Harry Greenwood, clerk.

No Organized Attempt Seen To Skip Draft

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer

Draft board officials across the nation say they have detected no signs of an organized effort to avoid the draft.

An Associated Press survey shows the draft proceeding normally following a weekend of anti-Viet Nam demonstrations and disclosure of a movement to help youths escape military service.

"Everything is normal as far as we are concerned. We have had no reports from local boards of anything unusual," said a spokesman at Selective Service headquarters in Maine.

The response from Maine was typical of that from other states.

As far as deferments and rejections are concerned, the Maine spokesman said: "If anything, our acceptance rate is going up; it was a little higher last month than it has been."

The draft boards also were asked if they had many deferments or rejections for unusual reasons. Such an unusual reason recurring at many boards could indicate an organized movement.

Without exception the boards answered "No."

Col. Arthur A. Holmes, director of the Michigan Selective Service, said: "I realize from reading the papers that there have been indications there would be group meetings of certain students to have them file conscientious objector requests, but I am unable to find any cases of this except from those who would normally file, such as Quakers."

Col. Howard E. Reed, Colorado director, said, "There seems to be more interest among those who think they should be deferred, probably because of increased calls."

In Boston, Col. Paul F. Feeney, deputy director for Massachusetts, said more student deferments are being given than any other type. But, he noted, this is the time of year for that.

Utah draft boards are going to take a hard look at any student deferments given to youths who participate in anti-Viet Nam demonstrations.

The Utah director, Col. Evan P. Clay, said socal boards have been instructed that if a deferred student takes part in the movement then there is "a question if it is in the national interest that he have his deferment."

In Miami, there was a flurry of registrations by older men. They said they had heard of the arrest of two men in their 40s who did not have draft cards.

2 Conduct Exercises At Glenmoor Meeting

Mrs. Maxine Hansen and Mrs. Nancy Wilson led exercises during the meeting of the Glenmoor Women's Physical Fitness Class Monday night at the former Lee's Market Building on the Y & O Road.

Mrs. Wilson, president, was in charge of business.

It was announced that Mrs. Lois McHenry of the Merle Norman Studios will present a cosmetics demonstration at the meeting to be held Wednesday at 7 p.m. at the same location.

The population of the world has increased from about 2.5 billion in 1940 to an estimated 3.2 billion.

Air-Conditioning Due Westgate Auditorium

The Board of Education agreed unanimously Monday night to seek bids on air-conditioning of the Westgate School auditorium.

The board acted after Supt. Paul H. Blair recommended that it investigate the cost, pointing out the auditorium "is used more than any facility in East Liverpool." In a 12-month period it was used 247 times for public events, he noted.

Blair said he was asked by the building committee during the summer inspection of the buildings to check on air-conditioning or installing exhaust fans in the auditorium.

BLAIR SAID he was advised that the exhaust fans would cost "at least" $4,000. The cost of air-conditioning would be higher, but the superintendent refrained from estimating the cost after John R. Woomer, chairman of the building committee, asked that it not be made public. Woomer explained publication of the estimate would be detrimental to the firm if it submitted a bid.

The superintendent pointed out that school events, such as plays and concerts, in the spring and fall are "most uncomfortable" for spectators.

Richard Smith and Woomer also agreed with the Superintendent. Smith said the auditorium has good acoustics and seating. "The only thing that keeps it from being outstanding is the lack of air-conditioning. If we can afford, it, I think it should be done."

Woomer also agreed and added that he believed the air-conditioning could be paid out of the repair and maintenance fund as a permanent improvement.

Mrs. Nessie R. Dunlop, vice president, said the auditorium also is used daily by school groups for the showing of educational films. "It can be very warm, even in the winter," she added.

THE BOARD approved the rental of the auditorium on Feb. 14 to the Crockery City Hunt Club for the showing of a com- $100 plus any custodial charges.

It also adopted a resolution endorsing passage of a 1-mill levy for one year at the Nov. 2 election to provide funds for construction of a new Retarded Children's School.

The resignation of Mrs. Rita Creighton, home economics teacher at East Junior High, was accepted. In response to a question, Blair said Mrs. Esther Martin, an eighth-grade mathematics teacher at Westgate who is certified to teach home economics, will replace her. A math teacher now is being sought, he said.

Discussing the campaign for passage of the new 3½-mill levy to provide funds for salary increases for all school employes, Blair said a "stuffer" will be enclosed with the report cards which will be distributed Wednesday.

The Citizens Committee for Better Schools will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. to compile additional information on the need for the levy. Speaking engagements are scheduled almost every night. Harry D. McConville, president, and Mrs. Nessie R. Dunlop, vice president, will address two school groups next Tuesday, he added.

LETTERS FROM Jack Talbot, president of the Lincoln Home and School Association, and Mrs. Marie Graham, principal, were read. They thanked the board for making a classroom at the school available for a kindergarten the group will sponsor.

The board also received a letter from the principal of Newton Falls High School citing the "wonderful experience" members of the Newton Falls band had as overnight guests of ELHS band members. The visitors' band spent Thursday night in local homes and attended classes with their hosts on Friday prior to the game. "The hospitality of the people impressed us." he said.

"It was a wonderful weekend except for the game," McConville said, pointing out he mercial film. The fee will be also received a similar letter. (The Potters lost, 16-14).

Miss Kathryn C. Liebschner, clerk-treasurer, reported a balance of $425,832 in all school funds.

Mrs. Hazel Neiser and Mrs. Freda Toft, McKinley teachers, represented the East Liverpool Teachers Association. The opening prayer was offered by the Rev. B. E. McDonald of the LaCroft Church of the Nazarene.

Two calls were reported last week, one to flush gasoline after the "chain" wrecks in the fog on the Smiths Ferry Rd. and the other to extinguish a dump fire on the Grimms Bridge Rd.

Exit lights have been replaced over the doors of the hall and estimates for a door lifter will be considered at the meeting next Monday.

Bridegroom's Shopping 'Champion'

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Who wins out when young newlyweds disagree on what to buy in the supermarket? The bride usually gives in and buys the brand her husband prefers, a survey shows.

A report on the survey which came up with this man-warming finding was presented today to the annual meeting of the National Association of Food Chains.

The study delved into the shopping habits of the nation's 57 million housewives and included a hard look at the buying practices of newlyweds who have an average weekly food budget of $20.43.

The new bride as a shopper, said the report, is "serious, studious, value-minded, uncertain, responsive, appreciative and proud.

"About two-thirds of brands purchased are the same as mother bought," the study said, but "when bride and groom disagree — the bride usually surrenders and buys the brand her husband prefers.'

Other findings:

— Upper income families buy more than three times as much frozen food and six times as much frozen baked goods as lower income families. They also are less likely to try new products, less interested in food stamps and buy more than four times as much colored toilet tissue as other families.

— Trade stamps are most important to blue collar families, who spend a greater portion of their incomes on food than any other group. This group is also most loyal to its supermarkets.

— Small town families are very stamp conscious, switch markets regularly and spend much less than city groups on meat and produce.

The market study, which will take another 15 months to complete, is sponsored by the Kroger Co., the Progressive Grocer magazine and the Reuben H. Donnelley Corp.

Campaign Launched

Citizens' Group Supports Levy To Hike School Pay

A campaign to inform the public of the need for increased teachers' salaries in the East Liverpool School District has been launched by the Citizens Committee for Better Schools.

Speakers already have begun discussing the proposed 3.5-mill levy on the Nov. 2 general election ballot at meetings of parent - teacher groups and other organizations, H. Jud English, chairman of the committee announced.

The committee and anyone interested in the schools and the levy will meet Thursday night at 8 at Room 204 in the high school.

The need to maintain an adequate teacher salary schedule was underscored by English as a means of retaining capable and qualified instructors and to attract new teachers and other personnel.

The committee also has prepared material to be distributed to parents this week with students' report cards.

Handbills, car slogans, letters, advertisements, radio programs and other means of explaining the need for the levy are planned.

An open house will be held at the schools starting Monday, English said.

There are 232 teachers and 53 non - certified personnel — such as office workers, cafeteria personnel, custodians and bus drivers — who would benefit under the proposed levy.

English pointed out East Liverpool's salary schedule for new teachers with bachelors' degrees, without experience, is $4,300, lower than Salem, Toronto, Midland, South Side, Hancock County, Beaver Local, Alliance, Steubenville and several other districts.

He said the need to increase salaries is vital if East Liverpool is to keep its good teachers and be able to compete with other schools for new teachers.

Cost of the levy to the average home owner in the city would amount to 27 cents a week.

"This is certainly not an expensive way to guarantee that our new schools will have capable teachers," English said.

He pointed out the recent funds allotted by the state to supplement teachers' pay go to all districts and do not help East Liverpool's salary schedule rise in proportion.

Just Before Sunrise

Comet May Be Visible From U.S. On Wednesday

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — You'll have to get up early and get out where you can see the sun rise over the horizon if you want a good look at the Ikeya-Seki comet.

But be careful. The comet, expected to loop around the sun while this side of the world is dark Wednesday night, is racing nearer to the sun every hour and now is so close you could get an eyeful of blinding sunlight trying to spot it.

Two Japanese astronomers first detected it Sept. 18, when the comet was far out in the solar system and just beginning to light up from the sun's rays. Since then, several astronomers have seen it as it rose above the horizon an hour or so before sunrise.

Now it is so near the sun that it rises only a few minutes before the sun pops up and dims its light. It is racing toward the sun at what will be nearly a million miles per hour by Wednesday night.

The comet and its 10-million-mile tail will be visible just before sunrise Wednesday and, if it doesn't explode in the solar encounter, again before sunrise Thursday, say astronomers at the California Intitute of Technology.

Streaking in from the edges of the solar system, it will make a hairpin loop around the sun during a five-hour period beginning at 10 p.m. Wednesday. Then, if it survives, it will head back toward the outer reaches of the solar system.

Astronomers at Caltech believe it will come within 800,000 miles of the sun during that swing-around, passing through the hot solar atmosphere. They say the sun's corona may be disturbed for a few minutes, but there will be no effect on earth.

There is a chance the comet's tail, rising halfway across the sky, can be seen Wednesday evening after the sun and the comet's head have slipped below the horizon.

A faint smudge of light when first seen, Ikeya-Seki gets brighter as it draws nearer the sun. At the time of closest approach it is expected to appear about a fifth size of the moon and be almost as bright.

Among the interested viewers of the comet's departure will be astronauts Walter M. Schirra and Thomas P. Stafford — if their Gemini 6 space ship gets under way as planned, and the comet survives.

They are to try to photograph the comet next Monday from orbit, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said. They should be able to see Ikeya-Seki every orbit, every 90 minutes, on their two-day flight.

Drivers Escape Injury In Crash Of Sedan, Truck

Two drivers escaped injury in a collision of a truck and a sedan at 6:16 this morning on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." 600 feet west of State St., police reported.

4 Inmates Hold 4 As Hostages Several Hours

JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—Four Negro prison inmates, two reportedly crazed by narcotics and all brandishing knives, held four hostages for several hours Monday while they complained to a reporter about discrimination.

The inmates seized a supply of drugs in the hospital at Southern Michigan Prison and they barricaded themselves into a corridor in the surgical suite on the hospital's fifth and top floor.

"Talking is what finally got them out of there—no question about that," said prison Inspector Joseph Dembosky, 58, who was held hostage for nearly six hours.

The four were assured their complaints would be investigated and no harm would come to them.

After releasing the hostages unharmed, the inmates were placed in isolation cells while prison officials considered whether to file charges.

During the siege, the four demanded to see a reporter to make their complaints public.

An odor may be removed from a bottle or jar by swishing a dilute solution of chlorine bleach around inside it and letting it stand for a few hours. Rinse well with hot water.

Council Files Letters

Auditor Renews Request On Tax Office Operation

City Auditor Lawrence J. Zollinger asked Council Monday night to enact an ordinance that has been hanging fire since Feb. 1, relieving him of the responsibility for collection of the municipal income tax and returning the job to Treasurer Bert A. Dawson.

In making the request, Zollinger traced the history of a long - drawn - out controversy in which he has contended that the duties of tax collection are incompatible with his position as auditor. He cited a section of the Ohio Revised Code and an opinion from Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper to support his contentions.

Zollinger made the request in a two - page letter, accompanied by another letter from Tax Commissioner D. G. Wilkinson asserting he has been unable to print copies of the current tax regulations because of indecision over the administrative head.

Council voted to receive and file both letters.

Zollinger noted that when the present tax ordinance was passed in late 1964, it decreed that he would be responsible for the administration, collection and enforcement of the tax. For about seven years prior to that time, Dawson had been the overall head of the tax department.

THE AUDITOR noted that he delivered a letter to Council last Jan. 4 advising that he refused to take charge of the income tax department. The letter cited a section of the state code "that these two positions — city auditor and tax commissioner — are incompatible and therefore I would only handle the job to which I was elected, city auditor," he said.

In his letter last night, Zollinger also quoted a letter from the state examiner in charge of the municipal division in Ohio Division 4 that declared he believes "that the office of city auditor and that of collector and head of the city income tax department are incompatible.."

The examiner said that the ordinance should be amended to make the treasurer responsible for administration of the tax office.

Zollinger also quoted a paragraph from Cooper's opinion of Dec. 28, 1964, in which the solicitor said: "Therefore, it is my opinion that Ordinance No. 30, 1964, in placing the city auditor in control of the administration, the collection of the funds and the enforcement of the tax, is not legal in that respect and should be amended."

Zollinger noted that legislation to amend the tax ordinance and return the duties to the treasurer was placed on first reading by Council on Feb. 1. But final passage was delayed on a motion to seek an opinion on the incompatibility of the offices from Atty. Gen. William Saxbe, he said.

"NOW AFTER nine months this has never been brought up again, nor has the attorney general's opinion been made public and I feel this should be done at once so the public knows who is running the income tax department, a department handling over $310,000 a year," Zollinger said.

"Mr. Wilkinson, tax commissioner, is doing a wonderful job, but who is the head of the department?

"I have been promised several times that this would be passed. I was promised it would be passed after the primaries, but still it hasn't been passed. I would like to know what is holding this up. If you received a letter from the attorney general, then you know you are wrong because all he would tell you would be to contact your city solicitor for a decision. The solicitor already has given me his opinion, which would be the same as he would give you. Why hold this ordinance up any longer?"

The attached letter from Wilkinson said the tax office's supply of the regulations has been exhausted since October 1964. He said he did not have a new batch printed at the time because he knew a new tax ordinance probably would be enacted. Wilkinson said he has had "literally dozens of requests for copies of our ordinance.."

The commissioner also said new forms must be printed to close out the 1965 fiscal year and begin the 1966 operations "and naturally I want these forms to be up to date, reflecting any possible change or changes in the law."

After the two letters were read by Clerk Lawrence Applegate, Councilman Robert W. Sample commented: "I guess the only thing we can do is to turn these over to the ordinance committee to bring in the legislation if that's what they want to do."

No action was taken on his suggestion.

Then Councilman William Davis asked: "Has the attorney general ever issued an opinion."

"I haven't heard of any," President Floyd Murray replied.

Then motions were enacted to file both letters.

Council Files Letters

Auditor Renews Request On Tax Office Operation

City Auditor Lawrence J. Zollinger asked Council Monday night to enact an ordinance that has been hanging fire since Feb. 1, relieving him of the responsibility for collection of the municipal income tax and returning the job to Treasurer Bert A. Dawson.

In making the request, Zollinger traced the history of a long - drawn - out controversy in which he has contended that the duties of tax collection are incompatible with his position as auditor. He cited a section of the Ohio Revised Code and an opinion from Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper to support his contentions.

Zollinger made the request in a two - page letter, accompanied by another letter from Tax Commissioner D. G. Wilkinson asserting he has been unable to print copies of the current tax regulations because of indecision over the administrative head.

Council voted to receive and file both letters.

Zollinger noted that when the present tax ordinance was passed in late 1964, it decreed that he would be responsible for the administration, collection and enforcement of the tax. For about seven years prior to that time, Dawson had been the overall head of the tax department.

THE AUDITOR noted that he delivered a letter to Council last Jan. 4 advising that he refused to take charge of the income tax department. The letter cited a section of the state code "that these two positions — city auditor and tax commissioner — are incompatible and therefore I would only handle the job to which I was elected, city auditor," he said.

In his letter last night, Zollinger also quoted a letter from the state examiner in charge of the municipal division in Ohio Division 4 that declared he believes "that the office of city auditor and that of collector and head of the city income tax department are incompatible.."

The examiner said that the ordinance should be amended to make the treasurer responsible for administration of the tax office.

Zollinger also quoted a paragraph from Cooper's opinion of Dec. 28, 1964, in which the solicitor said: "Therefore, it is my opinion that Ordinance No. 30, 1964, in placing the city auditor in control of the administration, the collection of the funds and the enforcement of the tax, is not legal in that respect and should be amended."

Zollinger noted that legislation to amend the tax ordinance and return the duties to the treasurer was placed on first reading by Council on Feb. 1. But final passage was delayed on a motion to seek an opinion on the incompatibility of the offices from Atty. Gen. William Saxbe, he said.

"NOW AFTER nine months this has never been brought up again, nor has the attorney general's opinion been made public and I feel this should be done at once so the public knows who is running the income tax department, a department handling over $310,000 a year," Zollinger said.

"Mr. Wilkinson, tax commissioner, is doing a wonderful job, but who is the head of the department?

"I have been promised several times that this would be passed. I was promised it would be passed after the primaries, but still it hasn't been passed. I would like to know what is holding this up. If you received a letter from the attorney general, then you know you are wrong because all he would tell you would be to contact your city solicitor for a decision. The solicitor already has given me his opinion, which would be the same as he would give you. Why hold this ordinance up any longer?"

The attached letter from Wilkinson said the tax office's supply of the regulations has been exhausted since October 1964. He said he did not have a new batch printed at the time because he knew a new tax ordinance probably would be enacted. Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I can't possibly discuss this with anyone who knows me or my husband. Robert is a prominent business man and he'd be furious if this got out.

We are both 41 years of age. Our children are high-schoolers. Six months ago Robert's closest friend died suddenly of a heart attack. The man was only 43 years old. He had been a bachelor up until his 43rd birthday. He married a girl 22, and toppled over three months later. My husband insists sex is what killed him.

Robert and I have been living like brother and sister for six months and I'm sick of it. I bought night gowns and fancy bed linen to attract his attention. He hasn't noticed a thing. Every night he sits in front of the TV and falls asleep in the chair.

Is it fair for him to expect a woman of 41 to settle for a sexless marriage — NO SIGNATURE, NATURALLY.

Dear No: It appears that the death of your husband's friend has left him not only grief-stricken but also scared out of his wits. He needs to consult a doctor who will set him straight.

Make Believe Land

Dear Ann: Betsy (not her real name) and her whole family are peculiar people. Since she married my brother (it's really another relative but I'm saying brother to protect myself) we are thrown together often because they are great believers in families being close.

Betsy and her family speak Spanish (not the real language). Whenever we are together my folks and I sit there like outsiders because we don't understand what is being said.

We were raised in Georgia (it's really another state) where folks are hospitable and friendly. Is there any way we can let them know we feel uncomfortable when they speak a foreign language right in front of us? — POLLY (NOT MY REAL NAME)

Dear Polly: It doesn't matter whether he's your brother, or whether the real state is Alaska or the language is Swahili. Communication is more than words. It's a smile, a look in the eye and a warm feeling that doesn't get lost in the translation.

Instead of sitting there, smoldering, why not let them know you want to learn a few words of their language Try to teach them some English. It would break the sound barrier and you'll all wind up liking each other better.

They'll Call You

Dear Ann: A group of us teen-agers got to talking about whether girls should telephone boys.

One of the girls said, "Ann Landers is against girls phoning boys for any reason, except maybe an emergency. She has mentioned this in her column more than once."

I'm a junior in high school and I don't understand why. Several of us would appreciate it if you'd print this letter and your answer. — WILLING TO LISTEN.

Dear Willing: I'm opposed to girls telephoning boys just to shoot the breeze for the following reasons:

The girl who telephones a boy appears to be running after him. This never did a romance any good.

If the boy is shy a telephone call might embarrass him before members of his family. So, my advice: "Don't call him girls. If he wants to talk, he'll call you."

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Child Can Be Trained To Eat All Foods

In many parts of the world it's not a problem to get babies and young children to want to eat but to find food for them. Here in the affluent U. S. the larger problem is to cause infants and young children to want to eat what is offered them. Most mothers of our nation know what are good foods for the young child and how to prepare them or how to select them at the food store in sterilized cans.

Dr. Garry Myers

It seems that most mothers find little difficulty getting the young child to eat strained and chopped food from sealed and sterilized cans. Many do have difficulty when the youngster from two to five eats with the family, to get him to eat such vegetables as peas, string beans, carrots or beets.

—:—

INDEED, some children from two to ten or older avoid practically all leafy vegetables for years and years, even indefinitely.

This may mean that, no matter how well-balanced the daily menu for the growing child is, he may not get an adequate diet. Practically any child can be educated by his skillful mother to enjoy all vegetables and all other foods.

Suppose your child two, three or four begins eating at the table with the family, and at mealtime you serve one or several vegetables. Suppose he doesn't choose to eat the one or two vegetables served, or violently refuses even to taste them. Suppose peas are served tonight. Perhaps you place before him a tablespoonful of peas and tell him he must eat them.

If he refuses you may attempt to push the peas into his mouth with a spoon. If he holds his teeth together tightly you may watch for when his jaws are relaxed and slip some in.

HE MAY expel them or hold them in his mouth without chewing and swallowing them. If greatly worked up emotionally, he may vomit. There's hardly a way to make him eat those peas, by force.

But suppose this tot had learned earlier about the house to accept the little word "No" as final. In this event, you would be able to refuse to let him have any other food unless he chose to eat some of the peas. Then you would not be telling him he must eat the peas, only that he could have no other food at this mealtime unless he chose to eat some of them.

If he wished to get down and leave the table you would let him do so. But you would make sure he could have no other food except some fruit juice, perhaps, until the next regular mealtime. Your aim would be to get him really hungry.

Always he had the privilege to choose, to choose between the peas offered and nothing—very different from telling him he must eat the peas.

Another matter you would observe: Instead of giving him a large helping of peas, you should place only two or three of them on his plate. Naturally it would be easier for him to choose to eat these few than to eat many.

SUPPOSE instead of peas, the vegetable were string beans. Then one or two pieces an inch or so in length would be a desirable trial quantity. If he finally chose to eat the very few peas or pieces of string beans, he might soon want more. Be stingy then; offer only a few more or no more at all.

To make such procedure work you and all others present must be calm and keep your lips closed and your insides still—no dispsay of emotions. This general technique will work.

It worked like magic for me with one of my grandchildren when he was nearly three, during two weeks he was visiting us one summer. In that time, he learned to enjoy eating any vegetable served at mealtime. Now in his teens he seems to enjoy all foods served the family.

My bulletins, "Stobbornness: Its Prevention and Correction" and "Eating Problems: Their Prevention and Solution I & II," may be secured by sending a self - addressed, U. S. stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I can't possibly discuss this with anyone who knows me or my husband. Robert is a prominent business man and he'd be furious if this got out.

We are both 41 years of age. Our children are high-schoolers. Six months ago Robert's closest friend died suddenly of a heart attack. The man was only 43 years old. He had been a bachelor up until his 43rd birthday. He married a girl 22, and toppled over three months later. My husband insists sex is what killed him.

Robert and I have been living like brother and sister for six months and I'm sick of it. I bought night gowns and fancy bed linen to attract his attention. He hasn't noticed a thing. Every night he sits in front of the TV and falls asleep in the chair.

Is it fair for him to expect a woman of 41 to settle for a sexless marriage — NO SIGNATURE, NATURALLY.

Dear No: It appears that the death of your husband's friend has left him not only grief-stricken but also scared out of his wits. He needs to consult a doctor who will set him straight.

Make Believe Land

Dear Ann: Betsy (not her real name) and her whole family are peculiar people. Since she married my brother (it's really another relative but I'm saying brother to protect myself) we are thrown together often because they are great believers in families being close.

Betsy and her family speak Spanish (not the real language). Whenever we are together my folks and I sit there like outsiders because we don't understand what is being said.

We were raised in Georgia (it's really another state) where folks are hospitable and friendly. Is there any way we can let them know we feel uncomfortable when they speak a foreign language right in front of us? — POLLY (NOT MY REAL NAME)

Dear Polly: It doesn't matter whether he's your brother, or whether the real state is Alaska or the language is Swahili. Communication is more than words. It's a smile, a look in the eye and a warm feeling that doesn't get lost in the translation.

Instead of sitting there, smoldering, why not let them know you want to learn a few words of their language Try to teach them some English. It would break the sound barrier and you'll all wind up liking each other better.

They'll Call You

Dear Ann: A group of us teen-agers got to talking about whether girls should telephone boys.

One of the girls said, "Ann Landers is against girls phoning boys for any reason, except maybe an emergency. She has mentioned this in her column more than once."

I'm a junior in high school and I don't understand why. Several of us would appreciate it if you'd print this letter and your answer. — WILLING TO LISTEN.

Dear Willing: I'm opposed to girls telephoning boys just to shoot the breeze for the following reasons:

The girl who telephones a boy appears to be running after him. This never did a romance any good.

If the boy is shy a telephone call might embarrass him before members of his family. So, my advice: "Don't call him girls. If he wants to talk, he'll call you."

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Child Can Be Trained To Eat All Foods

In many parts of the world it's not a problem to get babies and young children to eat but to find food for them. Here in the affluent U. S. the larger problem is to cause infants and young children to want to eat what is offered them. Most mothers of our nation know what are good foods for the young child and how to prepare them or how to select them at the food store in sterilized cans.

Dr. Garry Myers

It seems that most mothers find little difficulty getting the young child to eat strained and chopped food from sealed and sterilized cans. Many do have difficulty when the youngster from two to five eats with the family, to get him to eat such vegetables as peas, string beans, carrots or beets.

—:—

INDEED, some children from two to ten or older avoid practically all leafy vegetables for years and years, even indefinitely.

This may mean that, no matter how well-balanced the daily menu for the growing child is, he may not get an adequate diet. Practically any child can be educated by his skillful mother to enjoy all vegetables and all other foods.

Suppose your child two, three or four begins eating at the table with the family, and at mealtime you serve one or several vegetables. Suppose he doesn't choose to eat the one or two vegetables served, or violently refuses even to taste them. Suppose peas are served tonight. Perhaps you place before him a tablespoonful of peas and tell him he must eat them.

If he refuses you may attempt to push the peas into his mouth with a spoon. If he holds his teeth together tightly you may watch for when his jaws are relaxed and slip some in.

HE MAY expel them or hold them in his mouth without chewing and swallowing them. If greatly worked up emotionally, he may vomit. There's hardly a way to make him eat those peas, by force.

But suppose this tot had learned earlier about the house to accept the little word "No" as final. In this event, you would be able to refuse to let him have any other food unless he chose to eat some of the peas. Then you would not be telling him he must eat the peas, only that he could have no other food at this mealtime unless he chose to eat some of them.

If he wished to get down and leave the table you would let him do so. But you would make sure he could have no other food except some fruit juice, perhaps, until the next regular mealtime. Your aim would be to get him really hungry.

Arkansas Takes Over First Place In College Poll

By ED SHEARER

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas vaulted to the top in the Associated Press college poll Monday after posting what Coach Frank Broyles termed the "greatest comeback in the history of two great football teams."

The Razorbacks, attaining the No. 1 ranking for the first time ever in the AP poll, drove 80 yards and scored with 1:32 remaining in a 27-24 come-from-behind triumph over Texas.

Arkansas got 28 first - place votes and 468 points in the balloting of 59 sports writers and broadcasters throughout the nation. Big Red powe Michigan State moved into second place with 16 votes for the top spot and 420 points while Nebraska, last week's No. 2 team, tumbled to third with 393 points. The high-scoring Cornhuskers were named No. 1 on eight ballots.

"Everybody has so much respect for Texas, a great team, and when we were able to win, I think it impressed some people," Broyles said.

"It impressed me," he added.

Arkansas scored three early touchdowns here Saturday in taking a 20-0 lead over the top - ranked Longhorns. Texas staged a gallant comeback of its own and built a 24-20 lead with 4:06 remaining.

Then a poised Jim Brittenum engineered an 80-yard scoring march, completing six passes for 74 yards. End Bobby Crockett caught five for 68 yards, the last being a 14-yarder to the Longhorn one. Brittenum scored on the next play and touched off the wildest football celebration in Arkansas that anyone could remember.

Broyles said the credit of his team's success belonged to people all over the state. "We remarous to mention.

"So the end of the year is the time to be No. 1. I think the team feels that way," he said.

The Top Ten, with first place votes in parentheses and total points based on a 10-9-8 etc. formula:

1. Arkansas (28)	5-0	468
2. Michigan State (14)	5-0	420
3. Nebraska (3)	5-0	393
4. Southern California	4-0-1	268
5. Texas	4-1	253
6. Purdue	4-0-1	239
7. Notre Dame	3-1	192
8. Florida	4-1	139
9. Louisiana State	4-1	79

Frisco Puts Three Players On All-Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — The San Francisco Giants, runners-up to Los Angeles in the National League pennant race, placed three players, one more than the Dodgers, on The Associated Press' Major League All-Star team today.

Outfielder Willie Mays, first baseman Willie McCovey and right-handed pitcher Juan Marichal represented the Giants while the Dodgers chosen were World Series stars Sandy Koufax, lefty pitcher, and Maury Wills, shortstop.

Only two American League players were chosen in the voting by 331 sports writers and sportscasters. They were outfielder Tony Oliva of Minnesota and third baseman Brooks Robinson of Baltimore.

Rounding out the 10-man team were outfielder Hank Aaron and catcher Joe Torre of Milwaukee and second baseman Pete Rose of Cincinnati.

Koufax, a 26-game winner in the regular season, was a near-unanimous choice. He collected 330 votes. Whitey Ford, the New York Yankees' southpaw, drew the other one.

Mays had the second highest number of votes, 320. Then came Rose with 257, Oliva 230, Robinson 190 and Torre 173.

Marichal captured the right-handed pitcher's position in a close vote. He had 88, nine more than Jim Grant of Minnesota and 11 more than Don Drysdale of the Dodgers.

The second team consisted of pitchers Grant and Ford, Versalles, outfielder Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh, first baseman Ernie Banks and outfielder Billy Williams of the Chicago Cubs, third baseman Deron Johnson of Cincinnati, outfielder Carl Yastrzemski of Boston, second baseman Bobby Richardson of the Yankees and catcher Earl Battey, Minnesota.

Buckeyes Must Now Meet Big 10 Upstart Wisconsin

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State, embarrassed last weekend by second - ranked Michigan State, catches fast-improving Wisconsin Saturday in a make-or-break game for the Buckeyes.

Coach Woody Hayes' forces could be in for another nightmarish weekend.

For one thing, Wisconsin is the surprise team in the Big 10 with a 2-0 record, only a half-game off the 3-0 pace of the Spartans. The Badgers earlier were labeled the team mostly likely to finish in the cellar.

For another, Hayes has the job of getting the Bucks "up" after the physical pounding they took in the 32-7 loss to the Spartans.

But Woody appears unperturbed.

"There's only one way to go —up," Hayes told a press luncheon Monday.

Mighty Michigan State just wore the Buckeyes down.

"I think we were overpowered, outplayed and probably outcoached. We were lucky to come out at halftime losing only 7-0" Hayes said.

The Bucks had more than their pride hurt. Ace linebacker Ike Kelley has a gimpy knee and is doubtful for the Madison clash. Center Kim Anderson, who also has a knee injury, has been ruled out for at least two weeks.

Ohio needs a victory to improve on a 1-1 league record or its curtains in the conference chase.

Wisconsin owns victories over Iowa and Northwestern, has a tie with Colorado and has lost to top - rated Nebraska and Southern Cal.

Wisconsin, which hasn't beaten Ohio since 1959, has a lot of catching up to do. The Bucks lead the series, 23-7-4.

Nonpareil Club Sets Meeting Wednesday

The Nonpareil Club will meet Wednesday at 8:30 p. m. at the YMCA. Dick Wolf, president will preside.

United Is Voted No. 8 In Class A

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Unbeaten Massillon survived Steubenville's challenge and continued its grip on first place today in the weekly Associated Press high school football poll.

Massillon amassed a whopping 162 points, 34 more than second place Sandusky.

Two newcomers bolted into the top 10 football list replacing Dayton Roth and Zanesville. Roth bowed to Dayton Meadowdale, 24-14, and Zanesville lost to Marietta, 7-0 last week.

The newcomers, Athens and Dayton Chaminade, held ninth and tenth place, respectively.

Massillon knocked off stubborn Steubenville, 20-14, as the Big Red tumbled from fourth to eighth place.

All the scholastic clubs in the elite circle boast 6-9 records except Steubenville, which fell to 5-1.

Following Sandusky were Warren Harding, Middletown, Upper Arlington, Cincinnati Moeller, Columbus Watterson, Steubenville, Athens and Chaminade.

In Class A, Marion Catholic jumped from third place into the top spot on 112 points, 10 more than Doper St. Joseph, No. 1 ranked a week ago.

Previously unbeaten Chauncey-Dover almost dropped out of the top 10 after a 0-0 tie with Belpre.

All the other clubs in the small school ratings have 6-0 records. In third place was Fairport Harbor followed by Millersport and Lake of Stark County, in a tie for fourth, Tuscarawas Valley, Johnstown Monroe, United Hanoverton, Lancaster Bishop Fenwick and Chauncey.

Two Tennessee Coaches Die In Car-Train Crash

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Charles Rash, a University of Tennessee assistant football coach, remained in critical condition today — the victim of a car-train collision which killed two other Volunteer coaches.

William B. (Bill) Majors, a defensive backfield coach, and Robert T. (Bob) Jones, end coach, died Monday when a passenger train rammed their small car at a crossing here.

The three young coaches were en route to help Head Coach Doug Dickey begin planning strategy for Saturday's scheduled game with Houston.

Bob Woodruff, Tennessee athletic director, said a decision would be made today or. whether the Houston game will be played as scheduled. Tennessee's Monday practice was canceled, and Dickey was too upset to discuss plans for today.

A joint funeral for Majors and Jones was scheduled at a large Methodist church near the university.

An atmosphere of numbness still hovered over the campus today as students, faculty members and Vol fans mourned the second tragedy to strike the U-T athletic staff within two years. Bill Gibbs, an assistant basketball coach, was killed in a 1964 plane crash while on a scouting trip.

Gil Brandt, director of personnel for the professional Dallas Cowboys, talked with Tennessee officials by phone and said Dallas aides Harvey Robinson and Bill Meek would be available to help coach the remainder of the season, if Dickey wants them.

Bill Majors, 26, came from a famous Tennessee football family. His father, Shirley, is head coach at the University of the South in Sewanee, Tenn. Three brothers played college football — Bill at Tennessee, Joe at Florida State and Larry at Suwanee.

Jones, 30, and John played against each other in the Baylor-Tennessee Sugar Bowl game in 1957. Jones had been practicing law in Waco, Tex., until he joined the Vol staff last August.

Rash, 28, who starred at Missouri in 1957-58, joined the Tennessee staff in 1964 as offensive line coach.

Majors' body will be sent to Lynchburg, Tenn., for burial Wednesday. Jones' body will be flown to Dallas and then to Hearne, Tex.

Golfers Seek Top Prize In Sahara Event

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The autumn golf season continued here today as most of the nation's top golfers competed in the $111,111.11 Sahara Invitational Tournament.

It was the second day of the professional-amateur play, and Wednesday the pros shoot at the $20,000 top prize in the 72-hole regulation tournament.

Jack Nicklaus was the main contender for the high money. The defending champion of the Sahara was Dick Sikes, the young pro from Paris, Ark. Sikes led from start to finish a year ago and collected what was then a winner's purse of $12,000.

Also in the line-up was Bill Casper, who finished one stroke back of Sikes last year. Sikes carded a 275. Nicklaus tied for third at 277 last year.

Nicklaus won the tournament in 1963 with a score of 276.

Arnold Palmer, a previous winner, is not entered.

At the halfway point of the 36-hole pro-amateur competition, teams led by professionals Ken Still, Jay Dolan and Frank Beard led with best-ball scores of 56. Individual scores of 67 were shared by Dolan, Beard, Bert Martingale, Charles Coody and Bert Weaver.

Baseball Owners After New Boss

CHICAGO (AP) — Baseball's search for a commissioner to succeed retiring Ford Frick went into full swing today.

The two-day meeting, attended by all 20 major league club owners was expected to produce one of two things. It either would end with a new commissioner being named or at worst trim the current list of candidates to no more than four or five.

While the majority felt at least two more meetings would be needed before any definite action could be taken, there was some sentiment among the owners to prolong the current session until a commissioner is elected.

"We should sit here until we get a commissioner," one club owner said. "I think we've had sufficient time. This has been dragging out since February. The sooner we elect one the better."

At the last meeting in July, the owners trimmed the list of candidates from an original 200 to 16. While the list has never been made public, the identity of a number of candidates has leaked out.

According to the most reliable information, there is no one leading candidate at the present time but at least three have a good deal of support. Oddly enough, all three are men outside the baseball family.

The favorite trio reportedly are Leroy Collins, Bill Shea and Don McGannon.

Collins is the former governor of Florida and currently director of the Department of Justice's Community relations Service. McGannon is an expert on radio and television and Shea is a prominent New York attorney who was instrumental in bringing a National League franchise to the New York Mets.

Other non-baseball figures reportedly in the running include Maxwell Taylor, former envoy to Viet Nam, and Richard Nixon, former vice president.

Baseball personalities reportedly on the list include American League President Joe Cronin, Baltimore club President Lee MacPhail, baseball players' attorney Judge Robert Cannon of Milwaukee, and general managers E.J. Bavasi of the Los Angeles Dodgers Joe Brown of the Pittsburgh Pirates and Charles Feeney of the San Francisco Giants.

If a man outside the baseball family is named as the leader, it is likely he would be backed by either a deputy or a commission of deputies to advise him on baseball operations and ease his office burdens.

Frick, 71, will retire on Oct. 31 but will serve until a new commissioner takes office. The new commissioner reportedly will get a seven-year contract at $100,000 a year.

Big 8 Lineman Award Is Given To Youngstowner

By The Associated Press

The Big Eight Lineman of the Week is Frank Belichick of Youngstown, Ohio, Iowa State's 212-pound defensive guard.

Belichick, a senior, had a hand in 18 tackles as the Cyclones gained a 10-10 tie with favored Colorado.

"He gave us the finest interior line play of any player since I've been here, including that of John Van Sicklen last year," said Bob Ward, Iowa State assistant. Van Sicklen was an All America tackle at Iowa State last year.

Ward said that Belichick "is good enough to be No. 1 at any of the interior line positions. He is the swing man, filling in where we need him. This time he took over for Dick Paukert, who was out with an injury."

Arkansas' Next Opponent Can't Find Any Weakness

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — So your team is going to play mighty Arkansas, No. 1 in the nation.

Your team has won only one out of five and the opposition has scored 141 points on you. Texas Western rolled up 61.

So, coach, what do you think about playing Arkansas?

Odus Mitchell, veteran coach of North Texas State, didn't hesitate a second.

"We were going to play them anyway and I'd rather it would be against the No. 1 team than anybody else.

"We — myself and my boys — consider it an honor and I am confident that we will give a good account of ourselves. I wouldn't say that we could beat Arkansas but we sure are glad to get to play them.

"You are judged by the company you keep and we want to be in the best company we can find."

Mitchell said he had pored over his scouting reports and just couldn't find any weakness in the Arkansas team—either offense or defense.

"But my team has been improving with each game. Last week it played very well against Tulsa, which beat us 27-20. Tulsa gave Arkansas a pretty tough game before losing 20-12. We are about as good as Tulsa and Arkansas says Tulsa is about as good as anybody they played.

North Texas isn't in the best shape possible, having lost a starting end and fullback in last week's game.

"It makes us a lot thinner but we still have some good boys who don't have any ideas of getting beat."

The Eagles were beaten 61-15 by Texas Western, 29-21 by Louisville, 17-14 by Tampa and 27-20 by Tulsa. They won over Parsons 26-7 for their only triumph but it is noted that they played them closer each week.

Celts' Trainer Says Havlicek, Sanders 'Ready'

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics received good news today as veterans John Havlicek and Tom Sanders were pronounced fit for Wednesday night's National Basketball Association meeting with the Los Angeles Lakers at the Boston Garden.

Havelicek has been nursing a leg injury which forced him to sit out the opener against Cincinnati last Saturday. Sanders suffered a recurrence of a back ailment early in the 102-98 victory over the Royals.

"They can go," Boston trainer Buddy LeRoux said after the Celtics' held a long and rugged workout Monday. "We might have to gauge Havlicek's running a little, but they can go."

Arkansas Takes Over First Place In College Poll

By ED SHEARER

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas vaulted to the top in the Associated Press college poll Monday after posting what Coach Frank Broyles termed the "greatest comeback in the history of two great football teams."

The Razorbacks, attaining the No. 1 ranking for the first time ever in the AP poll, drove 80 yards and scored with 1:32 remaining in a 27-24 come-from-behind triumph over Texas.

Arkansas got 28 first - place votes and 468 points in the balloting of 59 sports writers and broadcasters throughout the nation. Big Red power Michigan State moved into second place with 16 votes for the top spot and 420 points while Nebraska, last week's No. 2 team, tumbled to third with 393 points. The highscoring Cornhuskers were named No. 1 on eight ballots.

"Everybody has so much respect for Texas a great team, and what we were able to win, I think it impressed some people," Broyles said.

"I impressed me," he added.

Arkansas scored three early touchdowns here Saturday in taking a 20-0 lead over the top - ranked Longhorns. Texas staged a gallant comeback of its own and built a 24-20 lead with 4:06 remaining.

Then a poised Jon Brittenum engineered an 80-yard scoring march, completing six passes for 74 yards. End Bobby Crockett caught five for 68 yards, the last being a 14-yarder to the Longhorn one. Brittenum scored on the next play and touched off the wildest football celebration in Arkansas that anyone could remember.

Broyles said the credit of his team's success belonged to people all over the state. "Too numerous to mention.

"So the end of the year is the time to be No. 1. I think the team feels that way," he said.

The Top Ten, with first place votes in parentheses and total points based on a 20-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 formula:

1. Arkansas (28)	5-0	468
2. Michigan State (16)	5-0	420
3. Nebraska (5)	5-0	393

Buckeyes Must Now Meet Big 10 Upstart Wisconsin

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State, embarrassed last weekend by second - ranked Michigan State, catches fast-improving Wisconsin Saturday in a make-or-break game for the Buckeyes.

Coach Woody Hayes' forces could be in for another nightmarish weekend.

For one thing, Wisconsin is the surprise team in the Big 10 with a 2-0 record, only a half-game off the 3-0 pace of the Spartans. The Badgers earlier were labeled the team mostly likely to finish in the cellar.

For another, Hayes has the job of getting the Bucks "up" after the physical pounding they took in the 32-7 loss to the Spartans.

But Woody appears unperturbed.

"There's only one way to go —up," Hayes told a press luncheon Monday.

Mighty Michigan State just wore the Buckeyes down.

"I think we were overpowered, outplayed and probably outcoached. We were lucky to come out at halftime losing only 7-0" Hayes said.

The Bucks had more than their pride hurt. Ace linebacker Ike Kelley has a gimpy knee and is doubtful for the Madison clash. Center Kim Anderson, who also has a knee injury, has been ruled out for at least two weeks.

Ohio needs a victory to improve on a 1-1 league record or its curtains in the conference chase.

Wisconsin owns victories over Iowa and Northwestern, has a tie with Colorado and has lost to top - rated Nebraska and Southern Cal.

Wisconsin, which hasn't beaten Ohio since 1959, has a lot of catching up to do. The Bucks lead the series, 23-7-4.

Frisco Puts Three Players On All-Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — The San Francisco Giants, runners-up to Los Angeles in the National League pennant race, placed three players, one more than the Dodgers, on The Associated Press' Major League All-Star team today.

Outfielder Willie Mays, first baseman Willie McCovey and right-handed pitcher Juan Marichal represented the Giants while the Dodgers chosen were World Series stars Sandy Koufax, lefty pitcher, and Maury Wills, shortstop.

Only two American League players were chosen in the voting by 331 sports writers and sportscasters. They were outfielder Tony Oliva of Minnesota and third baseman Brooks Robinson of Baltimore.

Rounding out the 10-man team were outfielder Hank Aaron and catcher Joe Torre of Milwaukee and second baseman Pete Rose of Cincinnati.

Koufax, a 26-game winner in the regular season, was a near-unanimous choice. He collected 330 votes. Whitey Ford, the New York Yankees' southpaw, drew the other one.

Mays had the second highest number of votes, 320. Then came Rose with 257, Oliva 230, Robinson 190 and Torre 173.

Marichal captured the right-handed pitcher's position in a close vote. He had 88, nine more than Jim Grant of Minnesota and 11 more than Don Drysdale of the Dodgers.

The balloting for the shortstop spot also was extremely close. Wills had 166 votes while Minnesota's Zoilo Versalles collected 155.

Two Tennessee Coaches Die In Car-Train Crash

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Charles Rash, a University of Tennessee assistant football coach, remained in critical condition today — the victim of a car-train collision which killed two other Volunteer coaches.

William B. (Bill) Majors, a defensive backfield coach, and Robert T. (Bob) Jones, end coach, died Monday when a passenger train rammed their small car at a crossing here.

The three young coaches were en route to help Head Coach Doug Dickey begin planning strategy for Saturday's scheduled game with Houston.

Bob Woodruff, Tennessee athletic director, said a decision would be made today or whether the Houston game will be played as scheduled. Tennessee's Monday practice was canceled, and Dickey was too upset to discuss plans for today.

A joint funeral for Majors and Jones was scheduled at a large Methodist church near the university.

An atmosphere of numbness still hovered over the campus today as students, faculty members and Vol fans mourned the second tragedy to strike the U-T athletic staff within two years. Bill Gibbs, an assistant basketball coach, was killed in a 1964 plane crash while on a scouting trip.

Gil Brandt, director of personnel for the professional Dallas Cowboys, talked with Tennessee officials by phone and said Dallas aides Harvey Robinson and Bill Meek would be available to help coach the remainder of the season, if Dickey wants them.

Frank Broyles, whose Arkansas team is ranked No. 1 in the nation, said simply that news of the tragedy made him sick. One of Broyles' assistants is John Majors, Bill's oldest brother.

Bill Majors, 26, came from a famous Tennessee football family. His father, Shirley, is head coach at the University of the South in Sewanee, Tenn. Three brothers played college football — Bill at Tennessee, Joe at Florida State and Larry at Suwanee.

Jones, 30, and John played against each other in the Baylor-Tennessee Sugar Bowl game in 1957. Jones had been practicing law in Waco, Tex., until he joined the Vol staff last August.

Rash, 28, who starred at Missouri in 1957-58, joined the Tennessee staff in 1964 as offensive line coach.

Majors' body will be sent to Lynchburg, Tenn., for burial Wednesday. Jones' body will be flown to Dallas and then to Hearne, Tex.

may be the Viet Cong's new No 1 target.

The Communist guerrillas have been attacking more frequently in the delta during the past few weeks and have been operating in battalion strength. A battalion may range from 500 to 1,000 men.

The guerrillas staged mortar attacks on 10 South Vietnamese military posts and watchtowers during the past few days but made no attempt to advance on them. Government casualties were reported light in the attacks in Chuong Thien and Phong Dinh provinces, 75 to 125 miles south of Saigon.

Board Continues Its Study Of Bids For Construction

The Board of Education today continued to study construction bids on the East End and LaCroft elementary schools after conferring Monday night with Architect Robert F. Beatty on the proposals.

The board has 60 days in which to accept or reject the bids received last Thursday when the low base offers totaled between $75,000 and $100,000 more than the estimate of the State Department of Education, which has final approval of the contracts.

IT WAS indicated that the board and Beatty my seek a conference with T. V. Utterbach, chief of the building section for the state agency, within a few weeks to review the bids and seek a satisfactory solution.

Board members also voiced a complaint regarding the cost of the two buildings in relation to the overall $4.3 million program, including a North Side elementary school and a new senior high school. They pointed out that no bids were taken on furniture and equipment, making it impossible to determine the actual cost.

Beatty reviewed the low bids with the board last night, pointing out the low base bids were figured on using electric heat in both buildings rather than gas-fired hot water heat at East End and electric at LaCroft. The use of electric in both schools would be a saving of $18,424, he said.

The low base bids totaled $1,360,814, but exercising two alternates to change electric requirements in the kitchen and a change in the boiler room at the East End school would be an additional saving of $1,285, reducing the total low bids to $1,359,529.

WHEN THE State Board of Education approved a loan of $990,958 in the spring of 1964, it estimated the cost of the two buildings at $1,282,606, including $655,558 for the 25-room East End structure and $627,048 for the 23-room LaCroft building.

J. A. Raeder, Inc., of Dover was the low bidder on the general contract for the East End school with an offer of $409,847, while Floyd C. Cox of East Liverpool submitted the low bid of $367,447 for the LaCroft building.

Salem Plumbing and Heating Co. submitted a combined low bid of $121,866 for plumbing while Sayre Electric Contracting, Inc., submitted the low electrical bids based on electric heat of $95,860 for East End and $92,153 for LaCroft.

The Firestone Electric Co. of Salem submitted the low combined bid of $176,694 for electric heating and ventilating at both buildings.

The other low combined bids were: kitchen equipment, Bernard Gloekler Corp. of Pittsburgh, $54,434; driveways and parking areas, Tri - State Asphalt Corp. of Martins Ferry, $21,980; landscaping and vine planting, Riverview Nurseries, $1,350, and tile floors, Durable Floors and Appliance Co. of Youngstown, $16,298.

Apportion

Original suits succeeded in knocking out a 62 - year - old amendment to the state constitution guaranteeing each of the 88 counties one House member regardless of small population.

Until several weeks ago when the court called for plans for both houses, it was widely believed that the senate would not be changed. Judges called for plans after the legislature reported it was unable to agree on reapportionment after nearly a year of controversy.

The all-Republican apportionment board—made up of the governor, auditor, and secretary of state—has been criticized by Democrats for acting at unannounced September meetings on its plan which creates 99 house districts and 33 senatorial districts. In the 106th General Assembly, there were 137 representatives and 32 senators.

Sen. Thomas P. Gilmartin, D-Mahoning, said in a letter to the federal judges that the board acted without giving the plan a public hearing and that it was done entirely "by members of one party."

Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe insists that the board's plan is "the only one offered by anyone which will comply with the 1964 decision" although he said he conferred "individually and collectively with board members on the whole array of proposals."

Saxbe and John M. McElroy, the governor's top aide, defended the apportionment board's move and asserted it had not only the authority "but the obligation" under the Ohio Constitution to act after its 1961 statutory plan was voided.

In a 69-page brief to the panel, Saxbe cited two Ohio precedents in which the board reapportioned the legislature a second time within a 10-year (decenial) period instead of only once as called for in the Ohio constitution.

McElroy defended the right of Rhodes, Auditor Roger Cloud, and Secretary of State Ted W. Brown to approve a plan at an unannounced meeting, asserting there is no legal requirement for them to do otherwise.

The governor's assistant asserted the chief executive is required by law to advertise apportionment changes in one newspaper in each of the state's three largest cities—Cleveland, Cincinnati, and Columbus. Advertisements are required to run four consecutive weeks.

treasury as well as the finances of other Klans. It waants to show where the money goes from Klan dues, initiation fees, basket passing at rallies and the sale of robes.

In setting the stage for the hearings, the committee investigators have prepared charts and films to map the tentacles and labyrinths of the Klan organizations, trace its history and explain the mystic nomenclature.

After weeks of questioning behind closed doors, committee members tell of hearing about night rides, secret "knock off squads" and "holy terrors" committing racial violence.

All this they say they intend to make public in their investigation of the Klan, the organization that President Johnson labeled the "hooded society of bigots."

Although Congress is grinding toward adjournment, the Klan hearings look as if they'll go on and on, and may still be running when Congress opens up again next year.

Committee investigators reportedly have lined up more than 200 witnesses and are prepared for hearings that could continue for as many as 13 weeks.

Sen. Frank J. Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., noted that demonstrators had thrown themselves on railroad tracks in attempts to prevent passage of troop and supply trains in California. He announced support of Lausche's bill.

There was no immediate answer from Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach to a suggestion by Sen. Donald Russell, D-S.C., that those who provided lists of ways to avoid being drafted be prosecuted under existing laws.

Apportion

must be shaped for that chamber, not challenged in original suits attacking the House.

Original suits succeeded in knocking out a 62 - year - old amendment to the state constitution guaranteeing each of the 88 counties one House member regardless of small population.

Until several weeks ago when the court called for plans for both houses, it was widely believed that the senate would not be changed. Judges called for plans after the legislature reported it was unable to agree on reapportionment after nearly a year of controversy.

The all-Republican apportionment board—made up of the governor, auditor, and secretary of state—has been criticized by Democrats for acting at unannounced September meetings on its plan which creates 99 house districts and 33 senatorial districts. In the 106th General Assembly, there were 137 representatives and 32 senators.

Sen. Thomas P. Gilmartin, D-Mahoning, said in a letter to the federal judges that the board acted without giving the plan a public hearing and that it was done entirely "by members of one party."

Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe insists that the board's plan is "the only one offered by anyone which will comply with the 1964 decision" although he said he conferred "individually and collectively with board members on the whole array of proposals."

Saxbe and John M. McElroy, the governor's top aide, defended the apportionment board's move and asserted it had not only the authority "but the obligation" under the Ohio Constitution to act after its 1961 statutory plan was voided.

In a 69-page brief to the panel, Saxbe cited two Ohio precedents in which the board reapportioned the legislature a second time within a 10-year (decenial) period instead of only once as called for in the Ohio constitution.

McElroy defended the right of Rhodes, Auditor Roger Cloud, and Secretary of State Ted W. Brown to approve a plan at an unannounced meeting, asserting there is no legal requirement for them to do otherwise.

The governor's assistant asserted the chief executive is required by law to advertise apportionment changes in one newspaper in each of the state's three largest cities—Cleveland, Cincinnati, and Columbus. Advertisements are required to run four consecutive weeks.

Board Continues Its Study Of Bids For Construction

The Board of Education today continued to study construction bids on the East End and LaCroft elementary schools after conferring Monday night with Architect Robert F. Beatty on the proposals.

The board has 60 days in which to accept or reject the bids received last Thursday when the low base offers totaled between $75,000 and $100,000 more than the estimate of the State Department of Education, which has final approval of the contracts.

IT WAS indicated that the board and Beatty my seek a conference with T. V. Utterbach, chief of the building section for the state agency, within a few weeks to review the bids and seek a satisfactory solution.

Board members also voiced a complaint regarding the cost of the two buildings in relation to the overall $4.3 million program, including a North Side elementary school and a new senior high school. They pointed out that no bids were taken on furniture and equipment, making it impossible to determine the actual cost.

Beatty reviewed the low bids with the board last night, pointing out the low base bids were figured on using electric heat in both buildings rather than gas-fired hot water heat at East End and electric at LaCroft. The use of electric in both schools would be a saving of $18,424, he said.

The low base bids totaled $1,360,814, but exercising two alternates to change electric requirements in the kitchen and a change in the boiler room at the East End school would be an additional saving of $1,285, reducing the total low bids to $1,359,529.

WHEN THE State Board of Education approved a loan of $990,958 in the spring of 1964, it estimated the cost of the two buildings at $1,282,606, including $655,558 for the 25-room East End structure and $627,048 for the 23-room LaCroft building.

J. A. Raeder, Inc., of Dover was the low bidder on the general contract for the East End school with an offer of $409,847, while Floyd C. Cox of East Liverpool submitted the low bid of $367,447 for the LaCroft building.

Salem Plumbing and Heating Co. submitted a combined low bid of $121,866 for plumbing while Sayre Electric Contracting, Inc., submitted the low electrical bids based on electric heat of $95,860 for East End and $92,153 for LaCroft.

The Firestone Electric Co. of Salem submitted the low combined bid of $176,694 for electric heating and ventilating at both buildings.

The other low combined bids were: kitchen equipment, Bernard Gloekler Corp. of Pittsburgh, $54,434; driveways and parking areas, Tri - State Asphalt Corp. of Martins Ferry, $21,980; landscaping and vine planting, Riverview Nurseries, $1,350, and tile floors, Durable Floors and Appliance Co. of Youngstown, $16,298.

treasury as well as the finances of other Klans. It waants to show where the money goes from Klan dues, initiation fees, basket passing at rallies and the sale of robes.

In setting the stage for the hearings, the committee investigators have prepared charts and films to map the tentacles and labyrinths of the Klan organizations, trace its history and explain the mystic nomenclature.

After weeks of questioning behind closed doors, committee members tell of hearing about night rides, secret "knock off squads" and "holy terrors" committing racial violence.

All this they say they intend to make public in their investigation of the Klan, the organization that President Johnson labeled the "hooded society of bigots."

Although Congress is grinding toward adjournment, the Klan hearings look as if they'll go on and on, and may still be running when Congress opens up again next year.

Committee investigators reportedly have lined up more than 200 witnesses and are prepared for hearings that could continue for as many as 13 weeks.

ing it a crime to destroy draft cards.

Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, called for action on his bill to make it a federal crime to interfere with "the performance of duty by any organization, unit or member of, or shipment or transportation of any supplies or materiel to or for the use of, any of the military or naval forces of the United States."

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., noted that demonstrators had thrown themselves on railroad tracks in attempts to prevent passage of troop and supply trains in California. He announced support of Lausche's bill.

There was no immediate answer from Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach to a suggestion by Sen. Donald Russell, D-S.C., that those who provided lists of ways to avoid being drafted be prosecuted under existing laws.

Smoke Fells Woman After House Blaze

EAST PALESTINE—A Philadelphia woman visiting her parents here was hospitalized Monday night after a $2,000 blaze in an upstairs bedroom at the N. Market St. home.

Mrs. Retta Fleming, 31, was taken to Woodside Receiving Hospital at Youngstown after the blaze, which she apparently set, firemen said. She suffered smoke inhalation.

The fire broke out about 9 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Stephenson of 1233 N. Market St., parents of Mrs. Fleming who was visiting here.

Mr. Stephenson extinguished the flames with a garden hose. Damage was confined to the bedroom and closet area. There was $500 damage to the building and $1,500 to clothing, bedding, cameras and other items, firemen reported.

New Communications Satellite 'Stronger'

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — A flight model of a space communications system that will triple the information - handling capability of medium and low - altitude satellites is being constructed for the Air Force by Sylvania Electric Products In.

The system includes a three-foot in diameter radiation disc backed by an array of 200 phased antenna elements. Its purpose is to keep the antenna of the satellite constantly aimed toward earth and to steer narrow, intense radio signals to specific ground terminals.

Because the radio signals are precisely directed to terminals, power consumption is only about 5 per cent of that required for conventional satellite communications systems which spray radio energy over a large volume of space.

The system electronically steers a radio beam back along the same path of a ground-based information request signal. Several ground stations could use the system simultaneously.

Power Interrupted

EAST PALESTINE — Power service was interrupted for short periods — ranging from eight to 30 minutes — at various areas of the city overnight due to trouble in a gear reducer in the turbine at the municipal power plant, city officials reported. Full service was in effect today, they added.

Families Plan Funerals For Mine Victims

SARDIS, W.Va. (AP) — A fight to subdue an underground fire which took the lives of seven coal miners went on today while families of the victims prepared for funerals in or near their home communities.

W. F. Eigenbred, director of the State Mines Department, said "we should have it the fire contained, without anything unforseen happening, by this evening."

The blaze centers in the area of an intersection of underground passageways a mile inside from the hillside entrance of the Clinchfield Coal Co.'s Mars mine, near Sardis. The victims were trapped beyond the fire when it broke out late Saturday night, cutting off their exit route.

Merchandise Stolen In Salem Area Entry

LISBON — Merchandise worth $90 was taken in an overnight burglary at Brogan's Market on Route 62 west of Salem, the office of Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan reported today.

Deputy Howard Gray, in charge of the investigation, said intruders pried the lock from the back door to gain entrance. The loss included a large quantity of meat, three boxes of cigars, three boxes of chewing gum and a quantity of razor blades.

No money was taken, as the cash register was emptied at the close of the day's business, according to Russell Brogan, the owner, who discovered the entry this morning.

Australia Crackdown Due Debt Collectors

MELBOURNE (AP) — The Victoria State legislature plans to move against debt collectors who harass people into paying over money.

The state is preparing legislation designed to counter tactics that include:

Parking vehicles bearing the words "debt collectors" in large letters outside debtors' premises, continual telephoning and personal calls at ridiculous hours.

The legislation will require the licensing of all debt collectors and subcollectors.

Female Bricklayers

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — Mrs. Leslie Frerking does nothing to dispel the rumor that ministers' wives can do anything. She and a friend, Mrs. Guerry Slaughter, looked at a big mudhole back of the Ascension Lutheran Church, where Rev. Frerking is the pastor, and decided to do something about it. They filled it in, then installed, without help, a 41' by 62' brick garden. The congregation agreed that it looked like a professional job and joined in to provide flowers and other items for the garden.

Said tax shall be and is hereby ordered computed, certified, extended and levied upon the tax duplicate and collected by the same officers, in the same manner and at the same time taxes for general purposes for each of said years are certified, extended and collected. Said tax shall be placed before and in preference to all other items and for the full amount thereof. The funds derived from said tax levied hereby required shall be placed in a separate and distinct fund, which together with the interest collected on the same, shall be irrevocably pledged for the payment of the interest and principal of said notes when and as the same fall due, provided, however, that in each year to the extent that the income from the off-street parking facilities is available, for the payment of such note and bonds and is appropriated for such purpose, the amount of such tax shall be reduced by the amount of such income so available and appropriated.
SECTION 11. The City Auditor is hereby directed to forward a certified copy of this ordinance to the County Auditor.
SECTION 12. This Ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency measure, and shall take effect and be in force immediately upon passage and approval. Said emergency lies in the fact that additional parking facilities are urgently needed in the City of East Liverpool in order to control the traffic by providing means by which said traffic may be removed from the streets of said City, and this action is therefore necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety of the citizens of said City.

Smoke Fells Woman After House Blaze

EAST PALESTINE—A Philadelphia woman visiting her parents here was hospitalized Monday night after a $2,000 blaze in an upstairs bedroom at the N. Market St. home.

Mrs. Retta Fleming, 31, was taken to Woodside Receiving Hospital at Youngstown after the blaze, which she apparently set, firemen said. She suffered smoke inhalation.

The fire broke out about 9 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Stephenson of 1233 N. Market St., parents of Mrs. Fleming who was visiting here.

Mr. Stephenson extinguished the flames with a garden hose. Damage was confined to the bedroom and closet area. There was $500 damage to the building and $1,500 to clothing, bedding, cameras and other items, firemen reported.

New Communications Satellite 'Stronger'

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — A flight model of a space communications system that will triple the information - handling capability of medium and low - altitude satellites is being constructed for the Air Force by Sylvania Electric Products In.

The system includes a three-foot in diameter radiation disc backed by an array of 200 phased antenna elements. Its purpose is to keep the antenna of the satellite constantly aimed toward earth and to steer narrow, intense radio signals to specific ground terminals.

Because the radio signals are precisely directed to terminals, power consumption is only about 5 per cent of that required for conventional satellite communications systems which spray radio energy over a large volume of space.

The system electronically steers a radio beam back along the same path of a ground-based information request signal. Several ground stations could use the system simultaneously.

Power Interrupted

EAST PALESTINE — Power service was interrupted for short periods — ranging from eight to 30 minutes — at various areas of the city overnight due to trouble in a gear reducer in the turbine at the municipal power plant, city officials reported. Full service was in effect today, they added.

Families Plan Funerals For Mine Victims

SARDIS, W.Va. (AP) — A fight to subdue an underground fire which took the lives of seven coal miners went on today while families of the victims prepared for funerals in or near their home communities.

W. F. Eigenbred, director of the State Mines Department, said "we should have it the fire contained, without anything unforseen happening, by this evening."

The blaze centers in the area of an intersection of underground passageways a mile inside from the hillside entrance of the Clinchfield Coal Co.'s Mars mine, near Sardis. The victims were trapped beyond the fire when it broke out late Saturday night, cutting off their exit route.

Merchandise Stolen In Salem Area Entry

LISBON — Merchandise worth $90 was taken in an overnight burglary at Brogan's Market on Route 62 west of Salem, the office of Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan reported today.

Deputy Howard Gray, in charge of the investigation, said intruders pried the lock from the back door to gain entrance. The loss included a large quantity of meat, three boxes of cigars, three boxes of chewing gum and a quantity of razor blades.

No money was taken, as the cash register was emptied at the close of the day's business, according to Russell Brogan, the owner, who discovered the entry this morning.

Australia Crackdown Due Debt Collectors

MELBOURNE (AP) — The Victoria State legislature plans to move against debt collectors who harass people into paying over money.

The state is preparing legislation designed to counter tactics that include:

Parking vehicles bearing the words "debt collectors" in large letters outside debtors' premises, continual telephoning and personal calls at ridiculous hours.

The legislation will require the licensing of all debt collectors and subcollectors.

Female Bricklayers

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — Mrs. Leslie Frerking does nothing to dispel the rumor that ministers' wives can do anything. She and a friend, Mrs. Guerry Slaughter, looked at a big mudhole back of the Ascension Lutheran Church, where Rev. Frerking is the pastor, and decided to do something about it. They filled it in, then installed, without help, a 41' by 62' brick garden. The congregation agreed that it looked like a professional job and joined in to provide flowers and other items for the garden.

How Can I?

ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I remove candlewax drippings from a wood table top?

A.—Scrape as much of the wax as possible off with a wooden paddle, then remove any residue by rubbing lightly with cheesecloth moistened with carbon tetrachloride or other cleaning fluid. Do this quickly, and follow it up immediately with a dry cloth polishing.

Q.—How can I make a hotter fire in my fireplace?

A.—Do not remove all ashes from the open fireplace. Leave some of them as a bed for the next fire. These ashes will retain a great amount of heat and give a quicker and hotter fire.

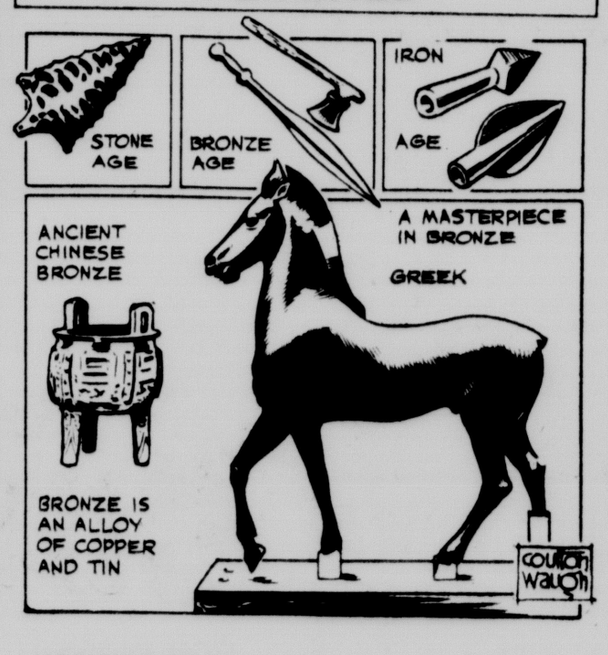

Q.—How can I clean leather and nylon upholstery in my car?

A.—Whip up a solution of detergent and ammonia, and using just the suds and a clean cloth or brush, go over the upholstery with this. Finish off by wiping with another cloth rinsed out of clear water. This usually does a fine job.

Q.—Please suggest a treatment for preventing rust accumulation on my stored - away yard and garden tools.

A.—Store these implements in a box of oil-soaked sand. Fill the box with clean sand, and then saturate it with motor oil.

Junior Editors Quiz on BRONZE

QUESTION: Where and how was bronze discovered?

ANSWER: Early men chipped stones and flints to make tools and weapons during the period called the Stone Age. A great step ahead was the discovery that metals, found in the earth, could be melted by heat and allowed to harden into useful shapes. But the first metals known, such as tin and copper, were too soft to make really useful tools. It is believed that, in some way, tin and copper, after having been melted, became mixed by accident. The mixture, when hardened, turned out to be much stronger that either of the two metals. Men thus found they could make superior tools and weapons by letting this mixture harden in a form which would give a desired shape. This mixture, or alloy, was bronze. There is more than one Bronze Age, because different people discovered it at different times. The first use of it was about 3000 B.C., in Mesopotamia, but the European Bronze Age did not begin until about 1800 B.C. As soon as the use of iron was discovered, this took the place of bronze for weapons and tools, because a much better cutting edge could be obtained. But bronze was used to cast works of art, as in the beautiful Greek horse, and is still used in many ways today.

FOR YOU TO DO: Have you got a cent in your pocket? Take a close look at it to see how attractive the metal is and how strong. This metal is the alloy called bronze.

J. V. Hughes Honored At Event In Wellsville

Joseph V. Hughes was given a special honor at the banquet Saturday night honoring past commanders of Wellsville American Legion Post 70 and past presidents of the Auxiliary.

He was nominated and elected to be a past commander emeritus. Hughes has been a member of the Legion from the time of its formation in 1919. He had served as post adjutant for 11 years, 13 years as finance officer of the 40 and 8 and Chef De Gare and is presently serving as finance officer of the Columbiana County Council. Hughes was presented a card and pin into the Past Commander's Club, becoming one of some 43 past commanders of Post 70.

SOME 100 attended the dinner dance where 29 were honored. Mrs. Evelyn Dickinson, Auxiliary chaplain, gave the invocation and Mrs. Bonnie Beresford, Auxiliary president and 10th district Americanism chairman, led the pledge of allegiance. Mrs. Wanda Dickey led group singing, with Mrs. Margaret Cable at the piano. Mrs. Dickey sang "White Buffalo."

Comdr. Sam Maylone was master of ceremonies and Mrs. Beresford gave the welcoming address. Maylone introduced the following 10th district guests: Commander and Mrs. Walter McCoy of Lisbon; Adjutant and Mrs. Al Hayes of Columbiana; Judge Advocate Frank Beane of Canton; the Rev. McDonald, chaplain, of North Industry, and Mayor William Daugherty.

Mrs. Beresford introduced the following past presidents and gave the year they held office: Mrs. Anna Wilkens, 1923; Mrs. Jennie Calhoun 1926, Miss Isa Anderson 1933 and 1934, Mrs. Bessie Dustman 1936 and 1937, Mrs. Calhoun 1938, Mrs. Flora Mundy 1945, Mrs. Isabel Hart 1946, Mrs. Margaret McAdoo 1947 and 1948, Mrs. Helen Leatherberry 1950 and 1951, Mrs. Dolores Excell 1954, Mrs. Kathryn Hughes 1956, Mrs. McAdoo 1957, Mrs. Excell 1958, Mrs. Sara Rose 1960, Mrs. Carmella Boyce 1962 and 1963, Mrs. Betty Maylone 1964.

Mrs. Calhoun held the first meeting of the Auxiliary and the charter was signed April 19, 1922. The late Mrs. Mina Holland was the first president in 1921. Mrs. McAdoo has the distinction of being the only three-time president. Ten presidents have held the office for two years. Mrs. Frances Menough and Mrs. Helen Secrest were secretaries the greatest number of years with six years each.

MAYLONE reviewed highlights in the history of the post. The post was chartered Aug. 18, 1919, and the greatest World War I membership was in 1923 when Richard Furniss was commander. The highest World War II membership was in 1948 when William Daugherty was commander.

The post commander said that one of the highlights of the group's community work was during the depression years when the post owned and operated a fully-equipped hospital for tonsillectomies. Some 200 operations were performed in one year. Mrs. Jennie Calhoun was in charge of the hospital and was assisted by Mrs. Edith McMichaels.

Maylone introduced past commanders and gave the year of their service. They are: Richard Furniss 1923, Perry Heckel of Atwater 1932 and 1935, Russell Dysert 1946, Robert Morehead 1947, William Daugherty 1948, Robert Beresford 1949, William Bratt 1950, Sam Maylone 1951 and 1952, Edwin James 1952, Harold Dickinson 1953; Albert O'Rourke 1954, Earl Smith of Delaware 1955, Vernon Rose of East Liverpool 1956, Robert Lowther 1959, William Boyce 1960 and 1961, Harry Excell 1963 and Sam Maylone 1964.

Maylone is the only one to have served four terms and six have held the office for two years each.

The benediction was given by George Wilkens, post chaplain. The film of Wellsville in 1937 was screened by Excell. Dancing was the pastime from 10 to 1 a. m., with The Esquires orchestra providing the music.

Personal Income Hike Attributed To Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Social Security payments jumped last month, and so did the nation's personal income statistics.

The Commerce Department said individual income rose from $532 billion on an annual-rate basis in August to $545 billion in September.

Most of the boost was attributed to a 7 per cent increase in Social Security payments. The September checks also included the increase on a retroactive basis.

3 Pass Exam For City Post

All three applicants scored passing grades in a test conducted Monday night at City Hall by the Civil Service Commission to draw up an eligibility list for appointment of city truck drivers.

Two others who had passed previous exams were interpolated into the list, making a total of five eligibles.

The men who passed the exam last night and their relative positions on the list are: 1. Norman R. McMillan, 1110 Railroad St.; 2. James A. Brown, 408 Grant St., and 4. Edgar L. Morgan, 1017 Hazel St. Jesse Frank Long, 221 W. 8th St., was interpolated into the list in the No. 3 spot and Clifford F. Goodballet, 1834 Lisbon St., was interpolated as No. 5.

Physical examination records were mailed last night to the successful applicants. When the tests are completed, the commission will certify three names to Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey, who sought a list with which to fill a vacancy in the street department. The jobs pay $2.14 hourly.

The commission said a fourth man sought to take the exam, but his application was rejected because it was not notarized and it was not accompanied by a $1 fee, as the regulations required. The applicant was Hooker T. Davenport, 1562 Short St. He did not appear to take the test.

The commission also screened 13 applications which were filed before the deadline Saturday for an exam Thursday night to make up a new eligibility list for appointment of "Meter Maids." Twelve of the applications were accepted.

Board Will Study Bids For Street Equipment

Three bids to supply a new dump truck and four to supply a hopper-body ash spreader were received by the Board of Control Monday afternoon at City Hall.

The board took the offers for the street department equipment under advisement. It is comprised of Mayor George E. Willshaw and Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey.

The apparent low offers were submitted by the O. S. Hill & Co. of East Liverpool for the truck chassis with dump body, while the Myers Equipment Corp. of Canfield was the lowest on the 10-foot ash spreader.

HILL OFFERED to supply a 1966 International with a 12-ton capacity dump body for a net delivered price of $4,855. The net cost would be $6,479.25 less $1,624.25 discount, it said.

As optional equipment, it offered power steering at $177 and a two-speed rear axle at $213.50.

Myers offered to supply a Baughman ash spreader for $1,790. It offered a stainless steel conveyor for $315 and said use of 10-gauge steel throughout the spreader would be an additional $66.

The other truck bids were received from Mike Turk, Inc., and Wimmer Motor Sales, both of East Liverpool.

Turk said the total cost of a 1966 Chevrolet would be $6,292.50, less $1,047.50 discount, for a net cost of $5,245. As optional equipment, it offered power steering for $133; a two-speed rear axle for $155.80, and an option on the hoist at $125.

Wimmer asked a total of $5,395 for a 1966 GMC equipped with a dump body. The truck chassis would cost $4,963.50 less $1,013.50 for no trade in for a total of $3,950, plus $95 for freight and delivery. The dump body would be an additional $1,350.

For optional equipment, it listed power steering at $150, a two-speed rear axle at $160 and hoist option at $135.

OTHER FIRMS submitting bids on the ash spreader were the Our Co. and the Howard E. Adams Construction and Machinery Co., both of Salineville, and the Ateco Equipment Co. of Pittsburgh.

The new equipment would replace equipment in use about 10 years. Council appropriated $8,000 last month to cover the cost.

J. V. Hughes Honored At Event In Wellsville

Joseph V. Hughes was given a special honor at the banquet Saturday night honoring past commanders of Wellsville American Legion Post 70 and past presidents of the Auxiliary.

He was nominated and elected to be a past commander emeritus. Hughes has been a member of the Legion from the time of its formation in 1919. He had served as post adjutant for 11 years, 13 years as finance officer of the 40 and 8 and Chef De Gare and is presently serving as finance officer of the Columbiana County Council. Hughes was presented a card and pin into the Past Commander's Club, becoming one of some 43 past commanders of Post 70.

SOME 100 attended the dinner dance where 29 were honored. Mrs. Evelyn Dickinson, Auxiliary chaplain, gave the invocation and Mrs. Bonnie Beresford, Auxiliary president and 10th district Americanism chairman, led the pledge of allegiance. Mrs. Wanda Dickey led group singing, with Mrs. Margaret Cable at the piano. Mrs. Dickey sang "White Buffalo."

Comdr. Sam Maylone was master of ceremonies and Mrs. Beresford gave the welcoming address. Maylone introduced the following 10th district guests: Commander and Mrs. Walter McCoy of Lisbon; Adjutant and Mrs. Al Hayes of Columbiana; Judge Advocate Frank Beane of Canton; the Rev. McDonald, chaplain, of North Industry, and Mayor William Daugherty.

Mrs. Beresford introduced the following past presidents and gave the year they held office: Mrs. Anna Wilkens, 1923; Mrs. Jennie Calhoun 1926, Miss Isa Anderson 1933 and 1934, Mrs. Bessie Dustman 1936 and 1937, Mrs. Calhoun 1938, Mrs. Flora Mundy 1945, Mrs. Isabel Hart 1946, Mrs. Margaret McAdoo 1947 and 1948, Mrs. Helen Leatherberry 1950 and 1951, Mrs. Dolores Excell 1954, Mrs. Kathryn Hughes 1956, Mrs. McAdoo 1957, Mrs. Excell 1958, Mrs. Sara Rose 1960, Mrs. Carmella Boyce 1962 and 1963, Mrs. Betty Maylone 1964.

Mrs. Calhoun held the first meeting of the Auxiliary and the charter was signed April 19, 1922. The late Mrs. Mina Holland was the first president in 1921. Mrs. McAdoo has the distinction of being the only three-time president. Ten presidents have held the office for two years. Mrs. Frances Menough and Mrs. Helen Secrest were secretaries the greatest number of years with six years each.

MAYLONE reviewed highlights in the history of the post. The post was chartered Aug. 18, 1919, and the greatest World War I membership was in 1923 when Richard Furniss was commander. The highest World War II membership was in 1948 when William Daugherty was commander.

The post commander said that one of the highlights of the group's community work was during the depression years when the post owned and operated a fully-equipped hospital for tonsillectomies. Some 200 operations were performed in one year. Mrs. Jennie Calhoun was in charge of the hospital and was assisted by Mrs. Edith McMichaels.

Maylone introduced past commanders and gave the year of their service. They are: Richard Furniss 1923, Perry Heckel of Atwater 1932 and 1935, Russell Dysert 1946, Robert Morehead 1947, William Daugherty 1948, Robert Beresford 1949, William Bratt 1950, Sam Maylone 1951 and 1952, Edwin James 1952, Harold Dickinson 1953; Albert O'Rourke 1954, Earl Smith of Delaware 1955, Vernon Rose of East Liverpool 1956, Robert Lowther 1959, William Boyce 1960 and 1961, Harry Excell 1963 and Sam Maylone 1964.

Maylone is the only one to have served four terms and six have held the office for two years each.

The benediction was given by George Wilkens, post chaplain. The film of Wellsville in 1937 was screened by Excell. Dancing was the pastime from 10 to 1 a. m., with The Esquires orchestra providing the music.

Personal Income Hike Attributed To Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Social Security payments jumped last month, and so did the nation's personal income statistics.

The Commerce Department said individual income rose from $532 billion on an annual-rate basis in August to $545 billion in September.

Most of the boost was attributed to a 7 per cent increase in Social Security payments. The September checks also included the increase on a retroactive basis.

3 Pass Exam For City Post

All three applicants scored passing grades in a test conducted Monday night at City Hall by the Civil Service Commission to draw up an eligibility list for appointment of city truck drivers.

Two others who had passed previous exams were interpolated into the list, making a total of five eligibles.

The men who passed the exam last night and their relative positions on the list are: 1. Norman R. McMillan, 1110 Railroad St.; 2. James A. Brown, 408 Grant St., and 4. Edgar L. Morgan, 1017 Hazel St. Jesse Frank Long, 221 W. 8th St., was interpolated into the list in the No. 3 spot and Clifford F. Goodballet, 1834 Lisbon St., was interpolated as No. 5.

Physical examination records were mailed last night to the successful applicants. When the tests are completed, the commission will certify three names to Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey, who sought a list with which to fill a vacancy in the street department. The jobs pay $2.14 hourly.

The commission said a fourth man sought to take the exam, but his application was rejected because it was not notarized and it was not accompanied by a $1 fee, as the regulations required. The applicant was Hooker T. Davenport, 1562 Short St. He did not appear to take the test.

The commission also screened 13 applications which were filed before the deadline Saturday for an exam Thursday night to make up a new eligibility list for appointment of "Meter Maids." Twelve of the applications were accepted.
